Russell Brunson's UNDERACHIEVER SECRETS

By Russell Brunson

Copyright 2011 © DotComSecrets.com
All Rights Reserved

DISCLAIMER:

The information contained in this book is for general guidance on matters of interest only. The application and impact of strategies, theories and laws can vary widely based on the specific facts involved. Given the changing nature of market forces, laws, rules and regulations, and the inherent hazards of communication, there may be delays, omissions or inaccuracies in information contained herein.

Accordingly, the information in this book is provided with the understanding that the authors and publishers are not herein engaged in rendering legal, accounting, tax, corporate finance, investment, banking, or other professional advice and/or services. As such, it should not be used as a substitute for consultation with professional accounting, tax, legal, corporate finance, investment, banking, or other competent advisors.

Before making any decision or taking any action, you should consult a professional advisor.

While we have made every attempt to ensure that the information contained in this book is reliable, DotComSecrets.com, Inc. is not responsible for any errors or omissions, or for the results obtained from the use of this information. All information in this book is provided with no guarantee of completeness, accuracy, timeliness or of the results obtained from the use of this information, and without warranty of any kind, express or implied, including, but not limited to warranties of performance, merchantability and fitness for a particular purpose.

In no event will DotComSecrets.com, Inc., its related partnerships, corporations or other entities, or the partners, agents or employees thereof be liable to you or anyone else for any decision made or action taken in reliance on the information in this book or for any consequential, special or similar damages, even if advised of the possibility of such damages.

Certain information in this book may have come from other sources (including websites) created and/or maintained by partnerships, corporations or other entities related to DotComSecrets.com, Inc. or by third parties unrelated to DotComSecrets.com, Inc. As such, DotComSecrets.com, Inc. makes no representations as to the accuracy or any other aspect of this information.

COPYRIGHT INFORMATION:

All copyrights belong to their respective owners. The word mark and logo " DotComSecrets.com, Inc." are registered trademarks owned by DotComSecrets.com, Inc. This book and its contents are the copyright of DotComSecrets.com, Inc. DotComSecrets.com, Inc. is incorporated in Idaho, United States of America.

Dedicated To:

Frank and Ed – the first Underachievers.
Thanks for allowing me to continue to spread this important message.

Collette – for letting me chase my dreams and always supporting me no matter how crazy the idea – I love you!

Table of Contents

Introduction 5

Chapter 1: Finding A Hot Market 14

- Find A Hot Market 15
- How To Find A Hot Market 19
- Market Filters 23

Chapter 2: Ask Them What They Want 33

- Your Flycatcher Page 34
- Your Ask Campaign 44

Chapter 3A: Give It To Them (Creating The Product) 55

- The Magical World Of Outsourcing 56
- How To Write A Killer Sales Letter 64
- How To Create Your Website 101

Chapter 3B: Give It To Them (Driving Traffic) 105

- How To Generate Targeted (Underachiever) Traffic To Your Website 106

Conclusion 113

INTRODUCTION

My Underachiever Journey

Today is a very good day.

In 2002 I started a journey (probably very similar to the journey that you are on right now) to try to make money online.

At the time I was wrestling at Boise State University and had just gotten married to my beautiful wife Collette. She was working to support me while I was going to school and chasing my dreams in wrestling.

I always felt guilty and wanted to figure out a way to help her with the bills. The obvious next place I looked was the internet. I saw all of the hype and the scams that people were selling me, and I bought into most of them.

It was a full 18 months that I spent trying to decipher what was real and what was not. At about that time I ran into two guys (Frank Kern and Ed Dale) who were launching a course called "The Underachiever Method" teaching how to create simple little "Underachiever" info products and websites, and then following a simple blueprint to drive traffic to those websites.

For me, it was like a breath of fresh air. It was simple, it made total sense, and I knew I could do it.

So I started my "Underachiever" journey.

I followed the same simple system that you are going to be learning now.

It started with a "Hot Market" – for me it was "Potato Guns."

Then I asked them what they wanted...

I then went and created a DVD giving them exactly what they wanted (I couldn't afford the $300 to $500 for a ghostwriter then).

I still remember seeing the first few sales come in, and it changed my life forever. I created multiple "Underachiever" websites, each one creating a new income stream for my wife and I.

From this income, she was able to quit her job and I was able to continue to wrestle and support my family.

After my "Underachiever" success, I wanted to help others do the same thing, so I started showing friends and family members how this worked. I helped them create their own "Underachiever" websites.

The more I helped people, the more I wanted to help, and I ended up building a huge coaching company teaching thousands of people from around the world this system. During this time, Frank and Ed had stopped teaching their "Underachiever Method" and had taken all of the training offline.

After this system had been hidden for four or five years, I contacted them and asked them if I could purchase the company from them, so I could continue to spread the "Underachiever" message.

At first they declined because the content was out dated and they wanted to make sure that their students only had the best, most up to date training if they were going to keep teaching it.

What they didn't know is that I had been teaching a similar system that whole time, and had been updating it week after week as we perfected it with thousands of students.

I showed them the new system, and then offered once again to buy their company. I promised that I would update the content with exactly what was working NOW and that it would then become my personal mission to help as many other people as possible to take this system and use it to free themselves.

They finally agreed, we purchased the company and now here we are.

So, that is why today is such a great day. You reading this ebook means that you now have the same system in YOUR hands that changed my life, and has changed the lives of thousands of others around the world.

Now it's your turn...

Your Underachiever Story

Imagine waking up in the morning, turning on your computer and discovering that while you were asleep, people from all over the world had been sending you money!

While this may sound like an impossible fantasy, more and more people are making this dream a reality through the amazingly lucrative world of Information Marketing.

Today, Information Marketing on the Internet is without a doubt the most compelling opportunity for anyone who is genuinely interested in escaping the rat race and establishing a more fulfilling lifestyle for themselves and their families.

For the first time ever, this opportunity is not restricted to the educated elite or the technical computer genius. It is available to ordinary moms and dads operating from their kitchen tables. It is available to students working from their dorm rooms. It is available to everyone and it is available right now!

What Is Information Marketing?

Information Marketing is the business of packaging and selling information.

As the world gets more and more hectic, people are looking for pre-packaged solutions to their problems. These days, no one has the time to sift through the mountain of information that is available from magazines, TV, and the Internet. They are suffering from Information Overload!

What people really want is a quick solution to their problem that is packaged in an easy to follow, step-by-step system.

"Other People's Problems Are Your Opportunities."

Information entrepreneurs create and sell information based products that help people to solve their problems as quickly and easily as possible.

In the world of information marketing, your success will be directly proportional to the number of people that you help.

What Types Of Information Products Are There?

There are many different types of information products including:

- Books
- Electronic Books (ebooks)
- Audio CDs / MP3s
- Multimedia CD Roms and DVDs
- Software
- Membership Sites

The aim of this book is to provide you with a proven step-by-step process for developing and marketing a high quality eBook. However, the principles that you will learn can just as easily be used to create any type of information product.

How Much Money Can I Make?

This is a little bit like asking, "How long is a piece of string?" There is no easy answer. Some of the factors that will determine how much money you will make include:

- Your market
- The quality of your products
- The effectiveness of your sales letter
- The effort you put into your marketing

We are not going to try and bamboozle you with hype about making hundreds of thousands of dollars in a few weeks. Instead, we are going to tell you the truth.

The process described in this course has been used by ordinary people to create Internet businesses that consistently generate between $1,000 to $3,000 (or more) per month on autopilot.

There are so many false and misleading claims on the Internet today that it is very important to always look for proof before you believe what people say and write. Look on the following pages and you will see screenshots of some successful Underachievers and what they have made with their websites starting from scratch with no previous Internet business experience.

Underachiever Profile: Mike Buontempo

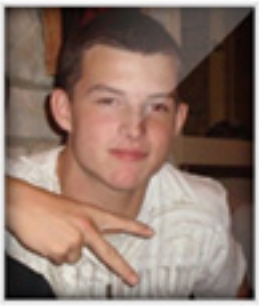

Name: Mike Buontempo

Age: 19 Years Old

Niche: Blushing Cure, Celebrity Autographs

Product: e-book

Income: Extra $150 Spending Cash PER WEEK!

Weekly Sales Snapshot

Week Ending	Gross Sales
2011-02-16 (current week)	$58.36
2011-02-09	$116.99
2011-02-02	$202.97
2011-01-26	$163.71
2011-01-19	$163.68

$202.97

Would you like an extra $202.97 a week?

Daily Sales Snapshot

Thu	Feb 10	$25.18
Wed	Feb 09	$33.18
Tue	Feb 08	$33.18
Mon	Feb 07	$0.00
Sun	Feb 06	$41.92
Sat	Feb 05	$0.00
Fri	Feb 04	$0.00
Thu	Feb 03	$41.89
Wed	Feb 02	$0.00
Tue	Feb 01	$17.51
Mon	Jan 31	$41.89
Sun	Jan 30	$21.23
Sat	Jan 29	$0.00
Fri	Jan 28	$0.00
Thu	Jan 27	$42.46

Underachiever Profile:
Michelle Moss
Name: Michelle Moss
Niche: Pregnancy Without Pounds
Product: e-book and pregnancy kits
Income: Extra $150 + per DAY!
Daily Sales Snapshot
Tue Feb 22 $11.93
Mon Feb 21 $134.77
Sun Feb 20 $129.21
Sat Feb 19 $16.18
Fri Feb 18 $48.97
Thu Feb 17 $226.13
Wed Feb 16 $93.91
Tue Feb 15 $32.79
Mon Feb 14 $81.76
Sun Feb 13 $32.79
Sat Feb 12 $147.33
Fri Feb 11 $113.70
Thu Feb 10 $16.18
Wed Feb 09 $58.45
Tue Feb 08 $45.16
$226.13
A day from a simple site!

Underachiever Profile:
Magnus Dahlquist
Name: Magnus Dahlquist
Niche: DIY building instruction
Product: Chicken Coop Guide (e-book & blueprint)
Income: $3,000 – $5,000 monthly
"How To Build Your Own Custom Chicken Coops In One Weekend Using These Proven, Step-By-Step Plans... Guaranteed!"
"How to Effortlessly Build A High Quality Children's Playhouse In a Single Weekend Without Expensive Tools, Materials, or Years of Woodworking Training"
$71.90
Would you like an extra $71.90 a day?
Mon Feb 21 $71.90
Sun Feb 20 $71.90
Sat Feb 19 $71.90
Fri Feb 18 $35.95
Thu Feb 17 $35.95
Wed Feb 16 $17.45
Tue Feb 15 $17.33
Mon Feb 14 $49.22
Sun Feb 13 $120.33
Sat Feb 12 $17.46
Fri Feb 11 $4.36
Thu Feb 10 $39.26
Wed Feb 09 $53.93

What Makes This Course Different?

If you're like most people, you've probably read a lot of business books and come away thinking, "This sounds great!" However, after the initial excitement has worn off, you are usually left with a single burning question, "So, what do I actually do?"

Rather than writing yet another book telling you what is theoretically possible, I've decided to create a simple, step-by-step process that anyone with an open mind and motivation can follow.

So get comfortable, turn the page, and let's get started!

CHAPTER 1

FINDING A HOT MARKET

Find A Hot Market

Has this ever happened to you?

You're having a shower or driving to work and all of a sudden... BANG... out of the blue you have an idea for a great new product. You know instantly that your new product will be an instant success. You're actually amazed that nobody has ever thought of it before. You smile secretively to yourself and start thinking about how you are going to spend all the money that you are now destined to make.

Being the type of person that follows through on your ideas, you then spend every minute of your spare time bringing your idea to fruition. It's not easy, but after months of hard work, your product becomes a reality. You give yourself a pat on the back and prepare for the deluge of money that you're sure is just around the corner.

But there is just one problem...

No one else seems to share your passion and enthusiasm for your new product. You contact one company after another only to find that no one is interested.

You find it incomprehensible that people cannot appreciate the true value of your product.

You continue to look for support but eventually you have to face the harsh reality that your product is not the world-beater that you though it was. After all the blood, sweat, tears and money that you have poured into your project you decide to throw in the towel and return to your safe, predictable job.

This scenario plays itself out over and over again as people around the world get caught in the great Entrepreneurial trap.

The first and most important thing that you must learn about starting a business is this:

"Just because you think something is a great idea does not mean it will be successful."

The most common mistake people make is to create a product and then go looking for someone to buy. This is the wrong way to start a business and a good way to waste a lot of time and money.

So, does this mean that all entrepreneurial dreams are doomed to failure?

Of course not.

You just have to learn the right way to go about starting your business.

The Simplest But Most Powerful Formula For Success

Often the most profound things in life are simple. Please don't make the mistake of underestimating the importance of what you are about to read.

This simple formula has made more money for individuals than any other strategy or complex business plan.

The Underachiever Secret Of Success

- Step #1: Find A HOT Market
- Step #2: Ask your market what they want
- Step #3: Give it to them

As you can see, the first step here is NOT to create a product. The first step is to find a MARKET.

A market is a group of people who share a passionate interest in a particular topic. Now, maybe you're thinking that this formula is a bit simplistic and could never work in real life. Well, let's have a look at an example that you may find familiar.

Example

Imagine for a moment, two record companies competing in the cutthroat world of music publishing. Let's call the first company 'Try Hard Records' and the second company 'Market Savvy Records.'

Try Hard Records has run into financial difficulties and desperately needs a big hit. They send out talent scouts to all the local bars and hotels in an effort to uncover a great hidden talent. Then one day they stumble across John Eseer playing blues guitar in a smoky jazz venue.

The CEO of Try Hard Records likes what he hears and immediately signs John Eseer to the label. Everyone in the company agrees that John is sure to be the next big thing. Try Hard Records spends thousands of dollars to create John Esser's first CD and DVD. They then organize a national promotional tour to introduce their new talent to the world...

Unfortunately the world isn't interested...

The market does not respond...

John's record is a flop...

Try Hard Records loses hundreds of thousands of dollars and goes out of business.

Meanwhile, the Market Savvy Record Company is also trying to get ahead in the world of music publishing, but they decide to take a different approach.

The CEO of Market Savvy Records understands how the world of marketing works. He therefore organizes a nationwide singing competition in collaboration with a prime time television network.

The competition starts with thousands of hopeful singers auditioning across the country. Market Savvy Records hires a group of music industry specialists to audition the singers and select a group of 35 talented individuals with a range of styles and appearances.

The next step is to organize a weekly singing competition that is televised across the country. Using the telecommunications network, Market Savvy Records then asks the public to vote for their favorite performer.

Over a number of weeks, the interest in the competition grows into a frenzy. Everyone is talking about who should win. The competition is one of the prime topics of discussion on talkback radio and in the average workplace and family home.

At the conclusion of the competition, Market Savvy Records announces the winner of the competition with great fanfare. Within a matter of weeks, Market Savvy Records releases a CD and DVD featuring the competition winner.

The result is that Market Savvy Records has an instant number one hit on their hands.

Why?

1. Because they found a hot market
2. They asked the market what it wanted
3. They gave it to them

So hopefully you now understand the true power of this simple formula. It is this formula that forms the foundation of the Underachiever Method.

How To Find A Hot Market

Finding a hot market is a little bit like being a detective. The characteristics of a hot market are as follows:

- It contains a large number of people
- These people are irrationally passionate
- They have disposable income
- They have their own jargon
- They have their own magazines
- They may hold their own conferences and events
- They have their own celebrities

In other words, you are looking for a group of people who have their own subculture. Some examples include:

- Fishing Enthusiasts
- Golfers
- Brides
- Massage Therapists
- Bodybuilders
- Scrapbook Enthusiasts

Finding these subcultures is actually quite easy. In fact, once you get started you will find niche markets everywhere. It's a little bit like what happens when you are thinking of buying a particular kind of car. All of a sudden you start to see those cars all over the place. In actual fact, this happens because your brain has tuned in to take notice of these cars.

In a similar way, you have to learn to use your 'Market Radar' and tune into the niche markets that are all around us.

Some of the best ways to discover niche markets are:

1. Checking Out Magazine Racks: By their very nature magazines cater for different niche markets. In fact, magazines can only continue to exist if there is a large group of people (a market) who will buy them regularly. Additionally, magazines generate revenue through advertising. Naturally advertisers will only pay for ads if they see a return on their investment. Therefore magazines are an excellent indicator that you can use to find niche markets.

2. Visiting Bookstores: Another good place to hunt for niche markets is a large bookstore such as Borders. Next time you visit a Border's store take notice of the labels on the shelves and the ways in which the books are categorized.

   The other good thing about going to a large book store like Borders is that they usually have a comprehensive magazine area as well.

3. Going to www.Magazines.com: If getting off the couch and going to Borders all sounds too hard then logon to www.Magazines.com. This website is a great resource for finding niche markets. The magazines are broken down into different categories and are even ranked by popularity.

4. Going to www.Amazon.com: Amazon.com is the Underachiever's Secret Weapon. This web site lists over 80,000 magazine titles!

   You can browse by subject, conduct a detailed search and even analyze trends with their 'Movers and Shakers' facility. Amazon.com also updates the top selling magazines daily.

5. Going to www.ClickBank.com: ClickBank.com is the number one digital product retailer in the world, and also the home of thousands of Underachievers. You can search through their marketplace and see hundreds of existing Underachiever products and get great ideas of hot markets that other people are already using online!

6. Talking to Passionate People: Have you ever spoken to someone and been amazed by the passion they demonstrated for a particular topic? Genuine passion is unmistakable and it is often a great indicator of a potential niche market. If you find yourself talking to someone who is passionate about a particular subject make sure you ask them the following questions:

   - Do a lot of other people share your passion?
   - Are there magazines relating to this subject?
   - Do they attend conferences or events relating to the subject?

7. Listening to People's Problems: People spend a lot of time talking about their problems. While this can sometimes get tiring, it can also be a great way to discover profitable niche markets. If someone has a problem there is a good chance that many other people share that problem. Think of it this way: wherever there's a problem there is an opportunity.

8. Watching TV: Television is a trend driven medium. What this means is that news and current affair programs often report on emerging trends. These general interest stories can be a great resource for identifying potential niche markets.

While these eight market sources are a great place to start your search for niche markets, the real trick is to learn to keep your marketing radar on 24 hours a day, seven days a week because you never know where or when that profitable niche market will appear.

Underachiever Exercise #1

Spend some time investigating the eight sources of niche markets described in this chapter. Compile a list of as many potential niche markets as you can find. At this stage don't be too selective. Just try and generate as many ideas as you can. Use the following table to record your potential markets.

POTENTIAL NICHE MARKETS

Market Filters

Contrary to what you may think, the hard part about information marketing is not finding the niche market. The hard part is sorting through all the potential niche markets to select the market with the most potential.

When you have your list of potential niche markets you should investigate each market and answer the following important questions:

- Question #1: Is there a large target market for information relating to this area?
- Question #2: Are members of this market able and willing to PAY for information relating to this area?

Let's look at each of these questions in more detail:

Question #1

Is there a large target market for information relating to this area?

The first step to answering this question is to open up the "Ultra Underachiever Software" program that came with this system. You are going to want to open the "Market Locator" product first:

When you open the software, you should see this screen:

Now take a moment and think about what search term you would use if you were looking for information relating to the market you're investigating. Let's use wedding planning as an example.

Type in your search term into the software and click the "search" button. The numbers that come back show you how many times this search term and related terms were searched for on Google in a single month!

For example the term 'Wedding Planning' brings back the following results:

This shows that 246,000 people searched for the words 'wedding planning' in a single month.

There is no hard and fast rule for the exact number of searches per month you need to create a profitable business. At this stage you are just trying to get an indication of whether a large market exists.

As a rule-of-thumb, look for count values of greater than 10,000.

For example, with 246,000 searches a month, it is clear that a lot of people are searching for information about wedding planning.

However, if you were investigating the 'Sea Snail' market you would get the following results:

No matter how much you love sea snails, they do not appear to be a good topic to select if you are trying to develop an ebook that will sell.

Question #2

Are members of your target market able and willing to PAY for information relating to this area?

This is the most important question that you need to answer before proceeding with an Underachiever project. It doesn't matter if your area of interest attracts a million searches per month if none of those people are willing to pay for your ebook.

To answer question two properly, you will need to answer five sub questions:

- Question 2a: Does a typical member of your target market have a credit card?

  This is a simple "Yes or No" question that you should be able to answer from your knowledge of your target market. For example, if your target market is students you may want to reconsider your project or change your approach to target their parents.

  Often times I hear people who are excited about the idea of a niche they can get into because there are "so many people" in that space. For example I had a friend who saw a huge market he wanted to go into relating to video games.

  He spent a fortune trying to launch his product in this niche. What he found out was that the kids who were playing this video game (while there were a lot of them) did not have credit cards – and it's hard to sell your mom on why you need to buy an ebook that will help you play your video game better.

- Question 2b: Does a typical member of your target market have disposable income?

  A lot of times you'll find a market that is passionate and willing to buy, but they just aren't able to buy. For example I know someone who made an info product for people who had just gone through bankruptcy. While most of these people really wanted his product, their disposable income was gone and they couldn't afford to buy what he was selling at any price.

  If people don't have money then they are not going to buy your ebook no matter how useful the information is. Again, students often don't have a lot of disposable income.

  The late Gary Halbert (copywriting and marketing genius) summed this up well when he said, "If you are going to spend the time and effort to develop a product, make sure you develop something that will appeal to Players with Money."

- Question 2c: Can you find a direct competitor?

Despite what logic would tell you, having some competition is actually a great thing. Every time someone comes to me with an idea and says, "I thought it was a good idea, but then I saw two other people doing it," I tell them, "Great!"

Now, that response may come as a surprise to you. When most people find a competitor they think, "Someone has beaten me to it!" and then they give up on their idea.

This is the wrong way to look at things. You should look upon direct competitors as a positive signal that there are people making money in this market. It's when you can't find direct competitors that you should start to worry.

Many people get excited when they find that they have no competition. They see this as an indication that they have come up with a unique idea and imagine themselves to be trailblazing pioneers.

But trust me - you do not want to be a trailblazer. It is a much better idea to find an area that has been proven to be profitable and then come at it from your own unique angle.

A good way to search for direct competitors is to go to www.Google.com and enter your search term plus the word 'ebook.' For example, "wedding planning ebook," or go to www.ClickBank.com and look in their marketplace for other competitors.

- Question 2d: Can you find four other products that are being sold to your target market?

  For this I'm not talking about your competition, but other products sold to your market. So if you want to sell a golf ebook, what other products are being sold to those same buyers? Golf shoes, videos, etc...

  Answering this question is another good way to establish that people in your target market are spending money online.

- Question 2e: How much money are advertisers paying to advertise in this area?

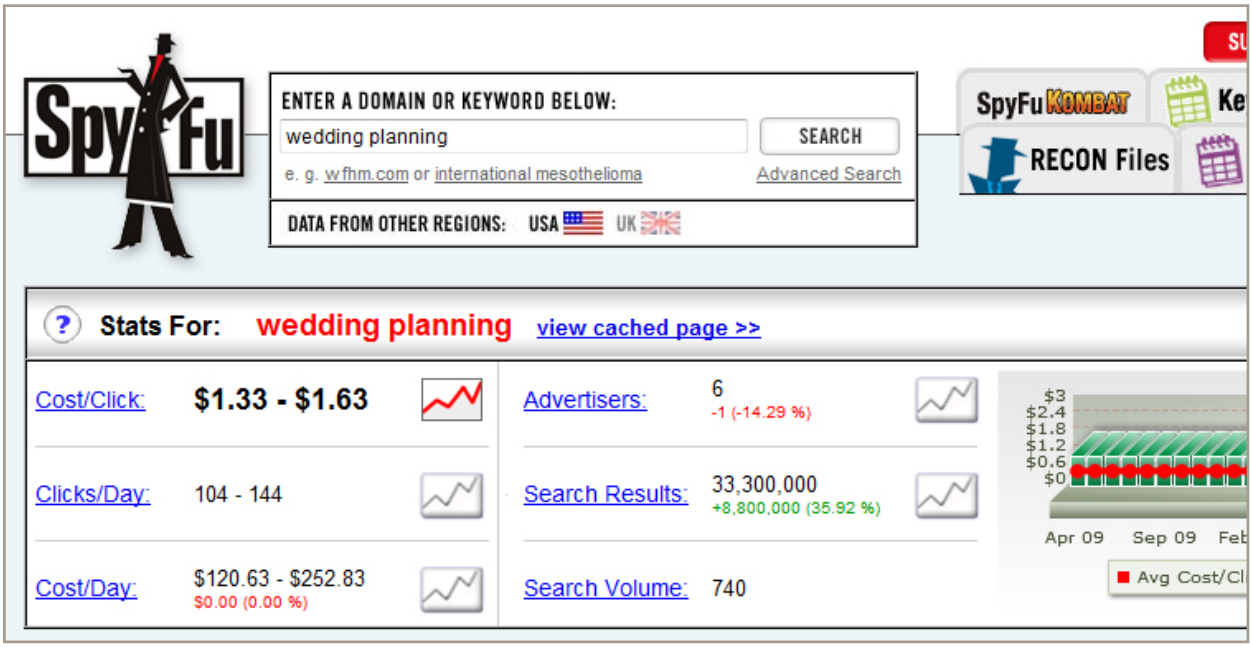

This is a great way to assess the profitability of potential markets. The idea behind this question is that advertisers generally only spend money to run ads if there is money to be made in a particular area.

Therefore, if advertisers are not spending money in a market, it may indicate that the market does not spend a great deal of money online.

Here's how to find out how much money advertisers are willing to spend in a particular market:

The first step is to go to www.SpyFu.com and enter your keyword. For this example I'm going to use "wedding planning" again.

After I've entered the search term and click the Search button, it will pull up a chart like this:

This chart shows me a few very cool things:

- Cost / Click is $1.33 - $1.63

Cost/Click is the amount Google charges an advertiser every time someone clicks on one of their ads. Google lets advertisers bid for keywords and generally the higher the bid, the closer the ad is to the top of the page. That's why there is a range. Some advertisers adopt a strategy of bidding as much as is necessary to always get the top ad position. Others would rather minimize costs by bidding lower and appearing near the bottom of the page.

- Clicks / Day: 104 - 144

  Clicks Per Day is the number of clicks that Google estimates it can deliver from an ad that appears on its search result page for this keyword. So, assuming that you don't exceed your max daily budget, you should receive this number of visitors daily if you advertise on this keyword.

- Cost / Day $120.63 - $252.83

  If you advertise with Google on this keyword for an entire day, assuming you don't exceed your max daily budget, this is how much you should expect to pay. Google lets advertisers bid for keywords and generally the higher the bid, the closer the ad is to the top of the page.

- Advertisers: 6

  Advertisers is the number of domains that pay for an advertisement to appear on Google's search result page for this keyword. The maximum number is 21 because SpuFu only drills down to the second page of ads.

- Search Volume: 740

  Search Volume is the average number of searches Google receives for this keyword on a daily basis.

  Because nowhere in the Underachiever system will I be teaching you how to use typical PPC ads, we don't really care how much the bids are, more important is that people are paying for those keywords.

  Also note that because of recent changes in Google, many information marketers who use to use Google's PPC program to drive the majority of their sales, no longer are using them for paid advertising, so Google is less valuable of a tool to determine how much people are paying for ads then it used to be.

Now it's your turn.

Make copies of the worksheet on the following page and use it to assess the potential profitability of each of your niche markets.

Create a shortlist of markets that have the following characteristics:

- Number of searches per month are higher than 10,000
- The answers to questions 2a-2d are all 'Yes'
- You can find competitors in ClickBank.com

From your shortlist select the market that looks like it will be the best to use for your first Underachiever website!

Finding and Filtering Hot Markets Worksheet

Market:

QUESTION #1 - IS THERE A LARGE TARGET MARKET FOR INFORMATION RELATING TO THIS MARKET?

Search Term: Number of Searches/Month:

Based on the above, the answer to question 1 is: YES | NO

QUESTION #2 - ARE MEMBER OF THIS MARKET ABLE AND WILLING TO PAY FOR INFORMATION RELATING TO THIS AREA?

Q2A. Does a typical member of your market have a credit card? YES | NO

Q2B. Does a typical member of your target market have disposable income? YES | NO

Q2C. Can you find a direct competitor YES | NO

Competitor's Website:
Q2D. Can you find 4 other products that are being sold to your target market? YES | NO

Product 1:
Product 2:
Product 3:
Product 4:

Q2E. How much money are advertisers paying to advertise in this area? $
(Enter the third advertiser bid from Overture.com)

Based on the above, the answer to question 2 is: YES | NO

CHAPTER 2

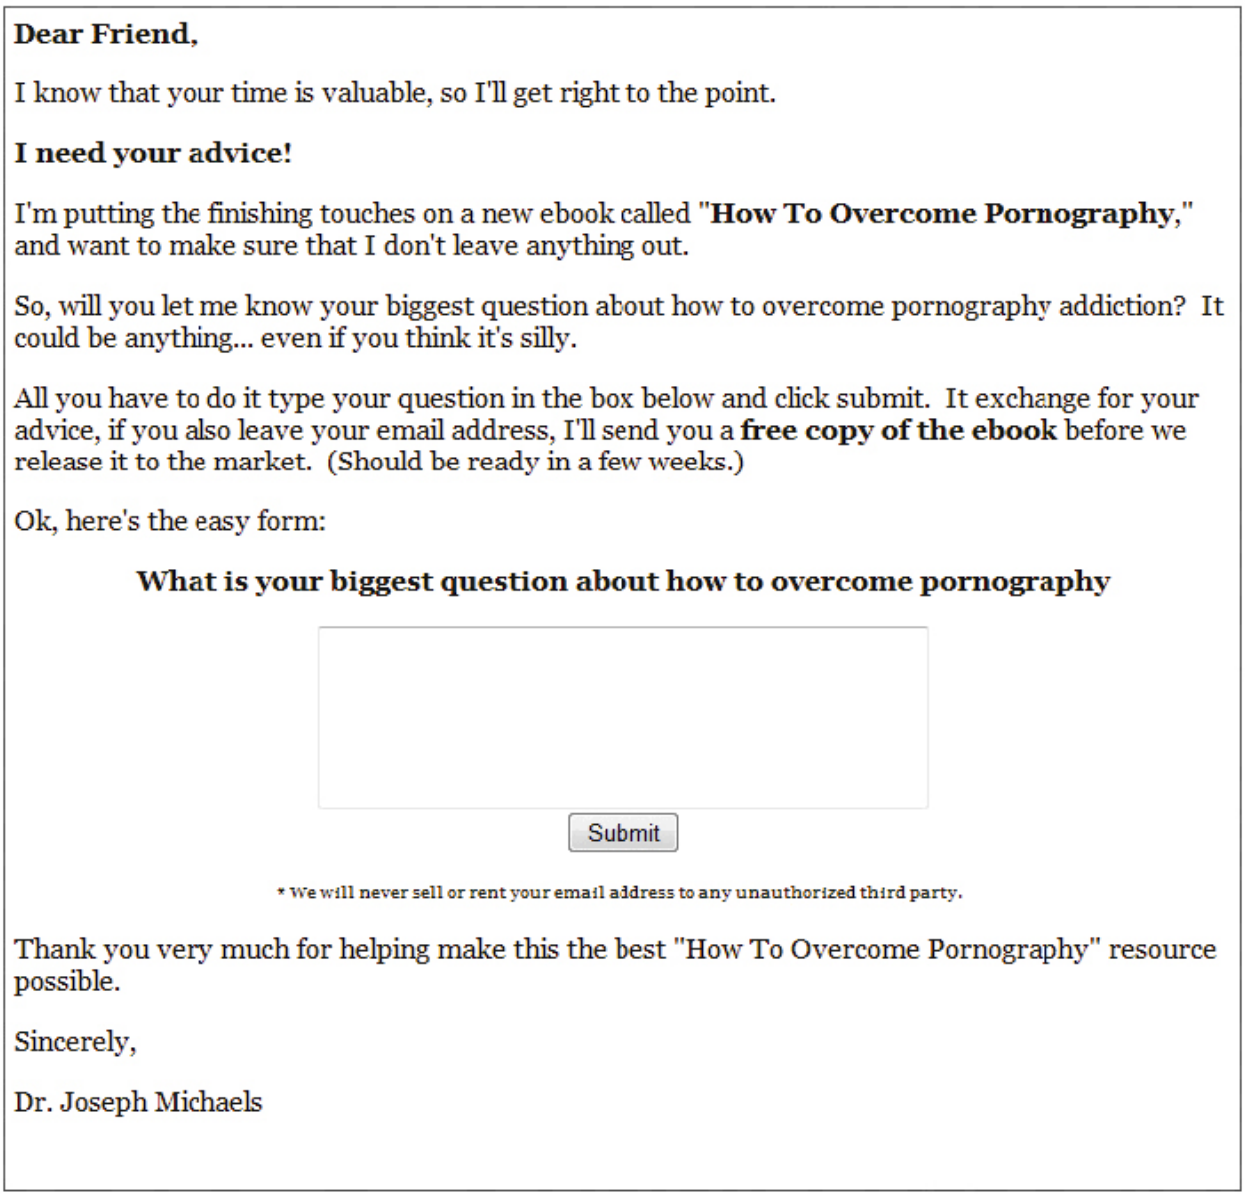

ASK THEM WHAT THEY WANT

Your Fly Catcher Page

Now that you have selected a niche market it's time to ask members of your market what they want. The way we do this is by creating what we call a flycatcher page.

The easiest way to explain how a flycatcher page works is to show you an example:

Dear Friend,

I know that your time is valuable, so I'll get right to the point.

I need your advice!

I'm putting the finishing touches on a new ebook called "How To Overcome Pornography," and want to make sure that I don't leave anything out.

So, will you let me know your biggest question about how to overcome pornography addiction? It could be anything... even if you think it's silly.

All you have to do it type your question in the box below and click submit. It exchange for your advice, if you also leave your email address, I'll send you a free copy of the ebook before we release it to the market. (Should be ready in a few weeks.)

Ok, here's the easy form:

What is your biggest question about how to overcome pornography

Submit

* We will never sell or rent your email address to any unauthorized third party.

Thank you very much for helping make this the best "How To Overcome Pornography" resource possible.

Sincerely,

Dr. Joseph Michaels

This is a tiny, one page website I setup that asks just one simple question. "What is your biggest question about _____?" and is the key to the whole Underachiever system.

It is going to give you the information you need to create your product, write your sales letter and so much more!

One of the very first products I started to create (before I learned about the Underachiever system) was on how to overcome pornography addiction.

I initially created the product for people who had pornography addictions. I spent a lot of time and money creating the product, writing the sales letter, and more.

After I learned about a flycatcher page and how to run an ask campaign, I quickly found out that while I had picked a hot market, I made two fatal mistakes:

1. I was targeting the wrong person.
2. I was giving them what I thought they wanted, not what they actually wanted.

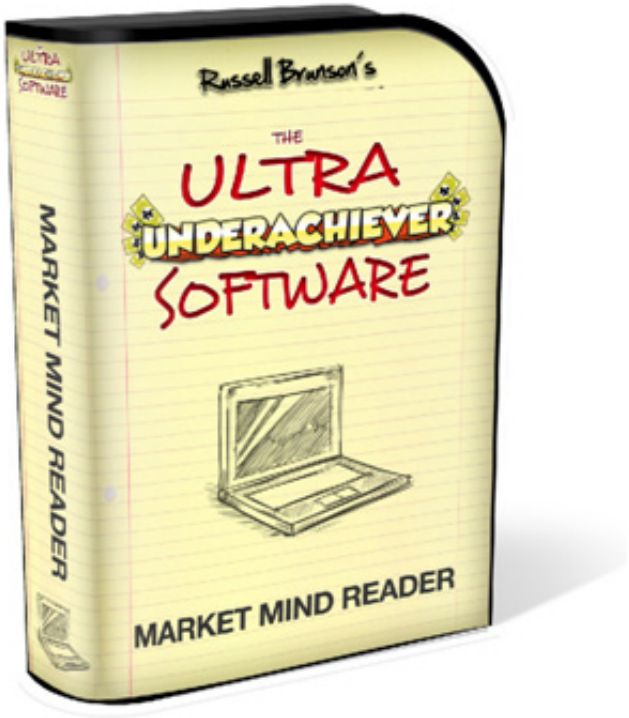

Before I ran the survey, I thought that my target market was men with pornography addictions. What I quickly found out when I ran the ask campaign was that the BIGGER market was the wives and mothers of people who had pornography addictions. I also found out that the product I was creating didn't answer ANY of the questions they were asking.

You will see in the next sections how we take these questions and they become the content for the product and also our sales letter!

Here is a screenshot of a few of the question I got back from my "Overcome Pornography" ask campaign:

The first step to setting up your first flycatcher page is to open up the "Ultra Underachiever Software" program that came with this system. You are going to want to open the "Market Mind Reader" software:

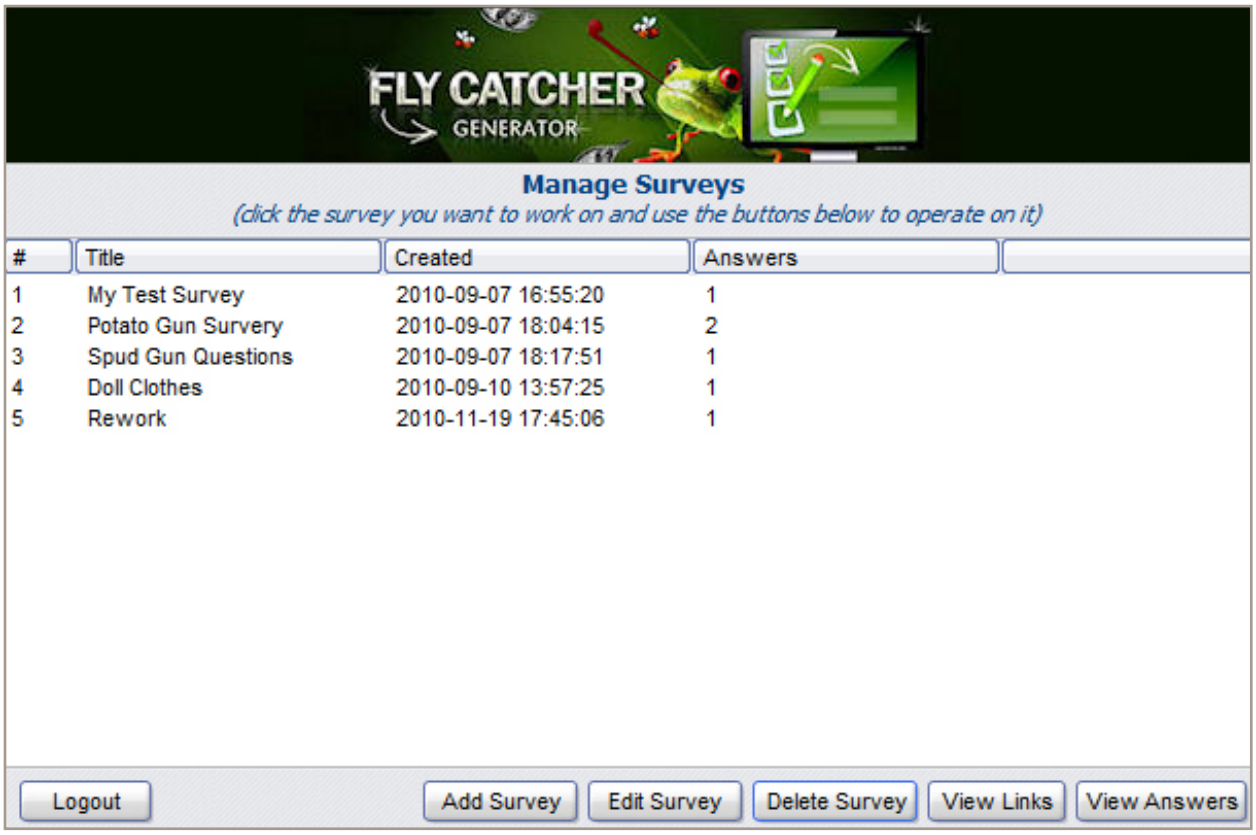

After you open the software for the first time, you are going to see a screen like this:

The first step if this is your first time using the software is to click on the "Click here if you don't have an account" link at the bottom. It will take you online where you can create an account to the online version of the software.

After you've created your account online, then come back and put your username and password into the software.

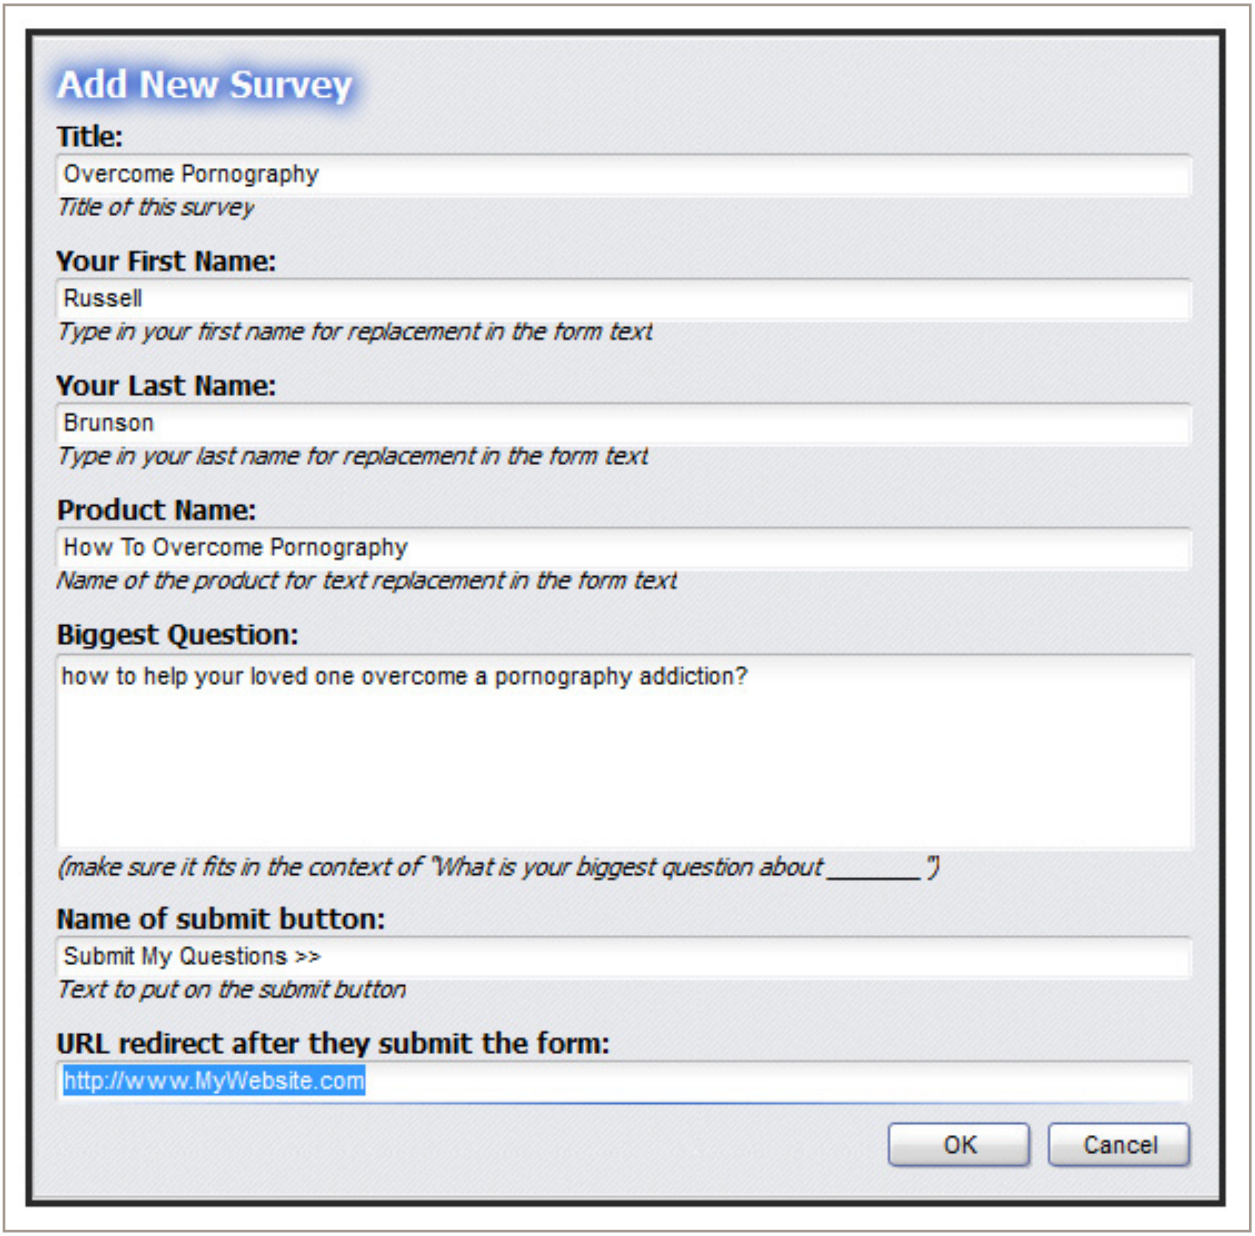

After you login, you will then be taken to a page that looks like this:

This will show you all of your current fly catcher pages, and give you the ability to create surveys, view your answers and more. Let me walk you through the simple steps to use the software.

Step #1: Add A Survey

Click on the "Add Survey" button to create your first survey. You will then be taken to a form that looks just like this:

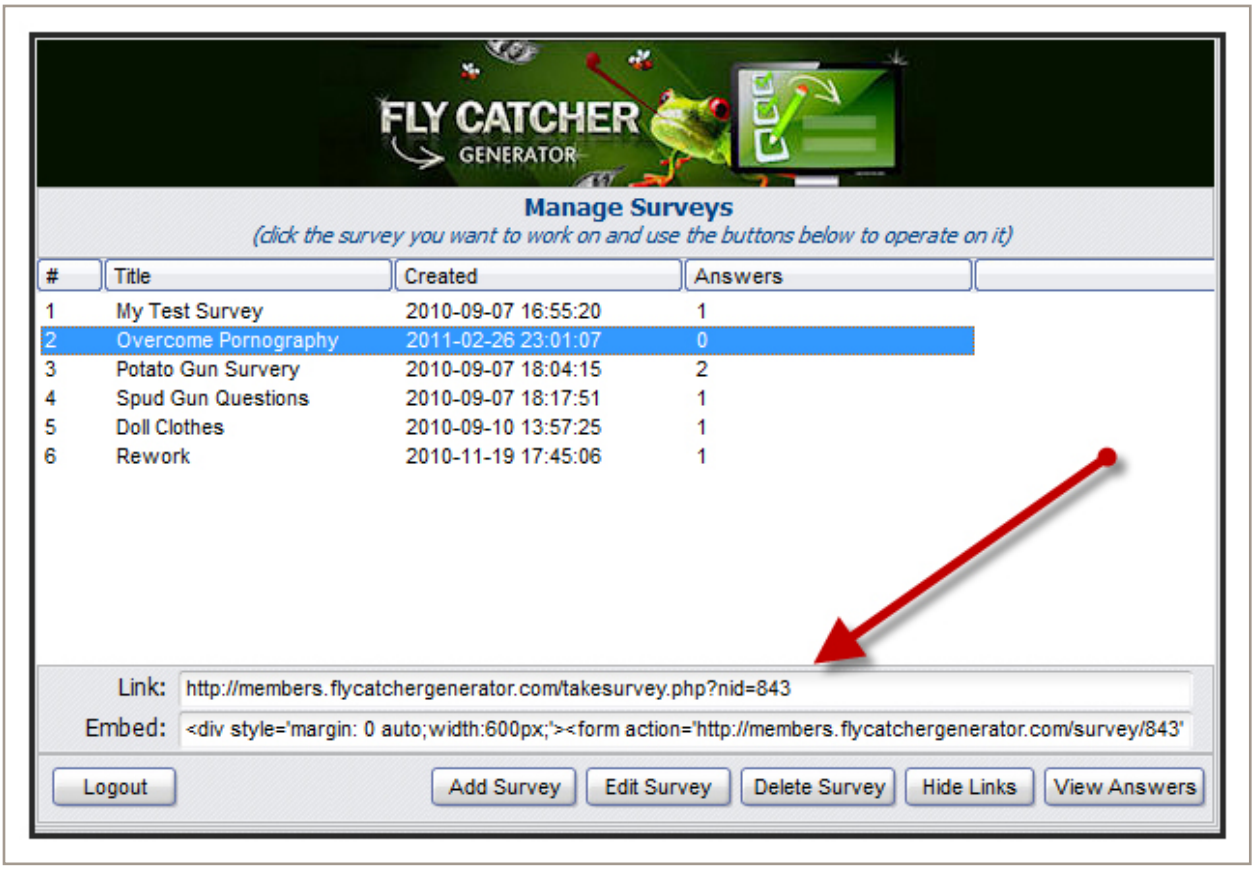

Be sure to look at how I answered the questions above, because the words that you put into these boxes will become the text in your flycatcher page.

And that's it...!

It's that simple! Your first flycatcher page is finished!

Step 2: View Links

Now that you've created your survey, let's go look at your flycatcher page! First click on the "View Links" button, and you'll see this:

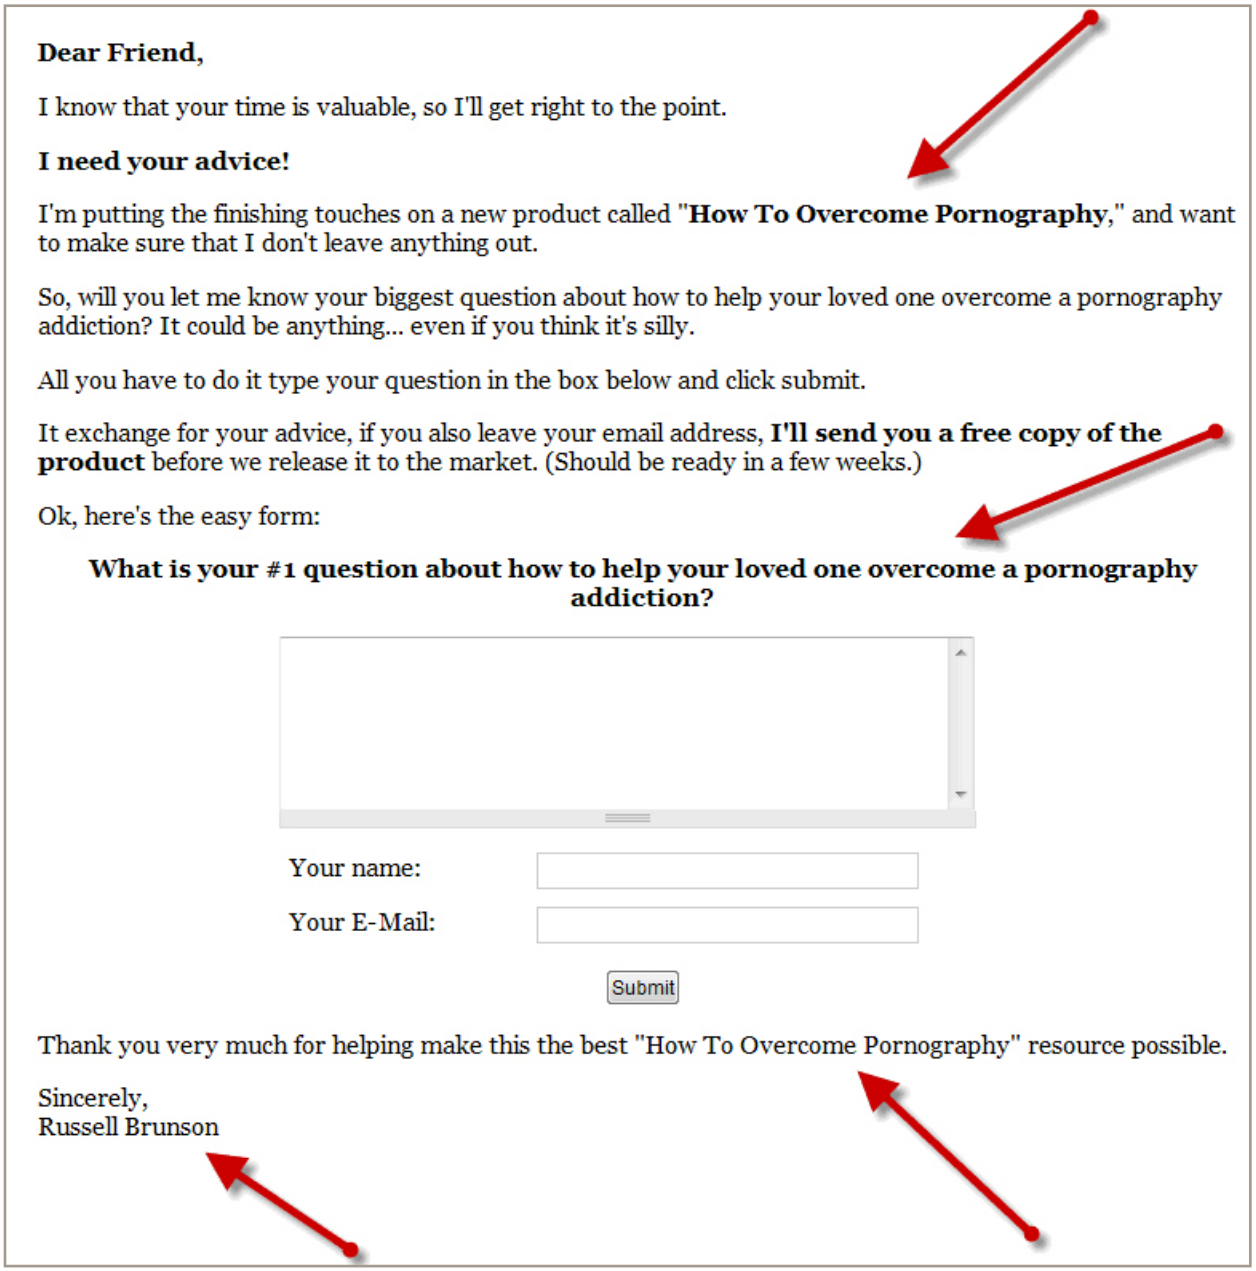

The software gives you two options:

1. The first option is a direct link to your flycatcher page that we are hosting for you!

2. The second option (for you techie people) gives you an embed code for the form that you can put on your own website, and then customize the page for yourself.

Here is what the hosted version of your flycatcher page looks like:

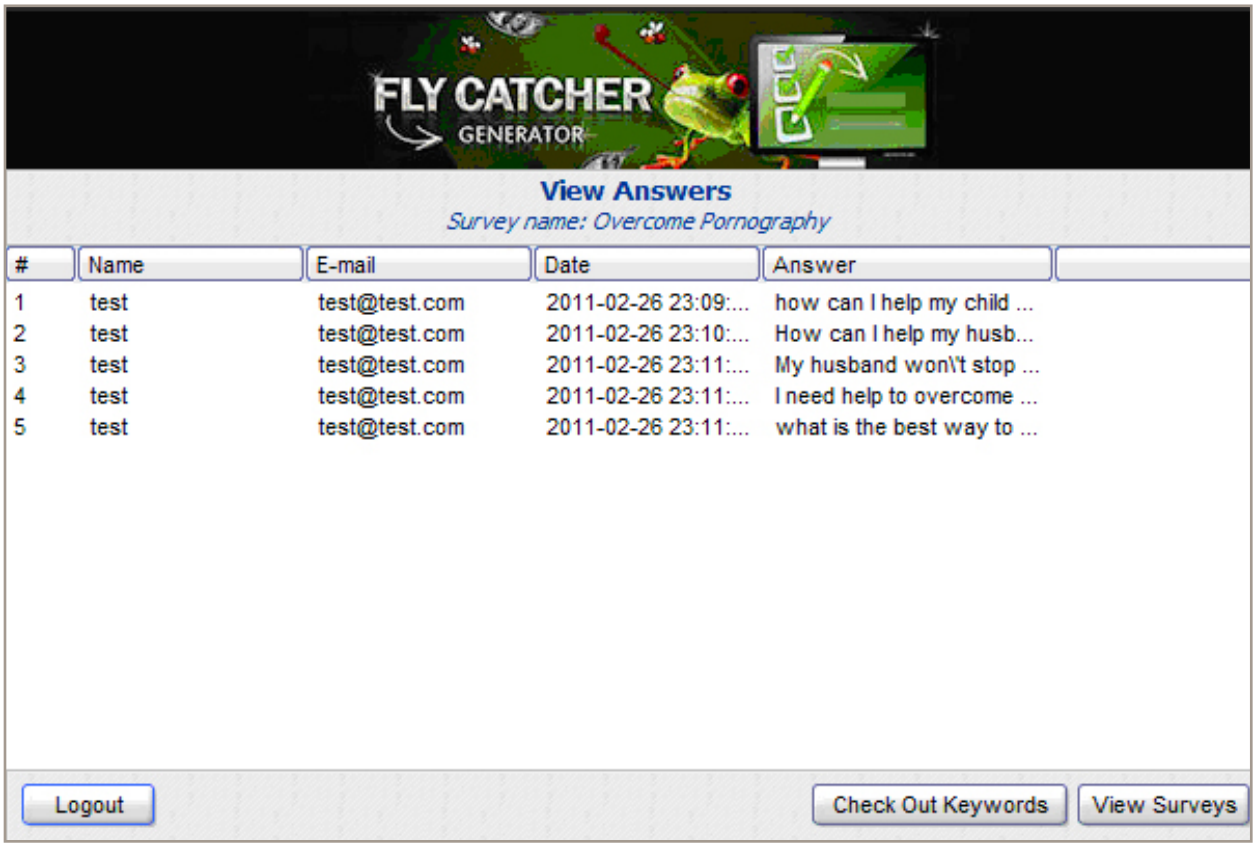

Notice that it inserted the four things that you entered into the software during step one into the flycatcher page:

1. Title of the product
2. The number one question text
3. Your name
4. Where to redirect them after they submit the form

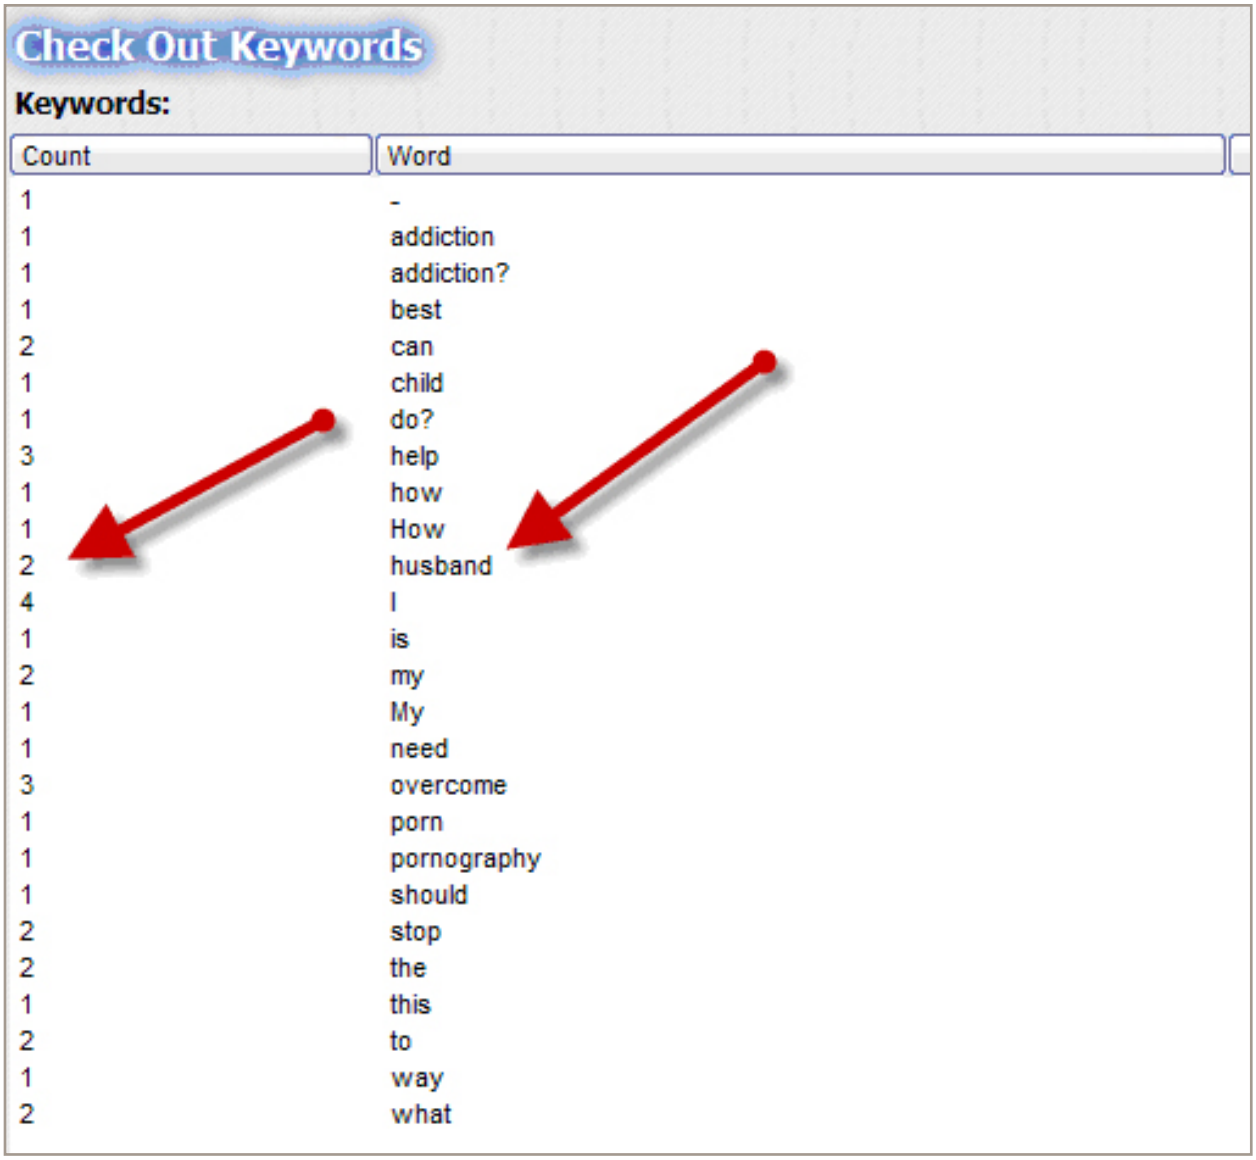

Step 3: View Results And Keywords

After you have had people fill out your survey, you can view what people asked, and also look at the keyword density from all responses in that survey.

View Answers:

View Keywords:

This becomes very helpful when you get a lot of submissions and you can see what keywords your market uses when they are trying to find answers to their problems.

Your "Ask Campaign"

After you have your flycatcher page setup, you need to run an "Ask Campaign." Your ask campaign is the process of sending visitors to fill out the flycatcher page to find out exactly what your target market wants.

There are basically two steps to running an ask campaign:

1. Creating traffic / people to your flycatcher page
2. Compiling the question your receive into an "outline" for your ebook

Getting Traffic To Your flycatcher page

The fastest way to get people to fill out your survey is to find out where your target market is already congregating, and ask them to fill out your survey.

Now, I used the word "congregation" on purpose.

When you hear the word congregation, what do you normally think?

Yes, churches.

People congregate together based on similar beliefs, interests and values. So, all of the Baptists congregate together each week. All of the Catholics, Mormons and Muslims also congregate together with others of their faith. I don't care who you are, EVERYONE self congregates themselves together based on their beliefs.

So, if I had a survey that was targeted towards Baptists, where would I go to find out what their "number one question about _____" is?

Of course you'd go to the Baptist church because your target market is gathering together there each week, and you can identify and find them easily.

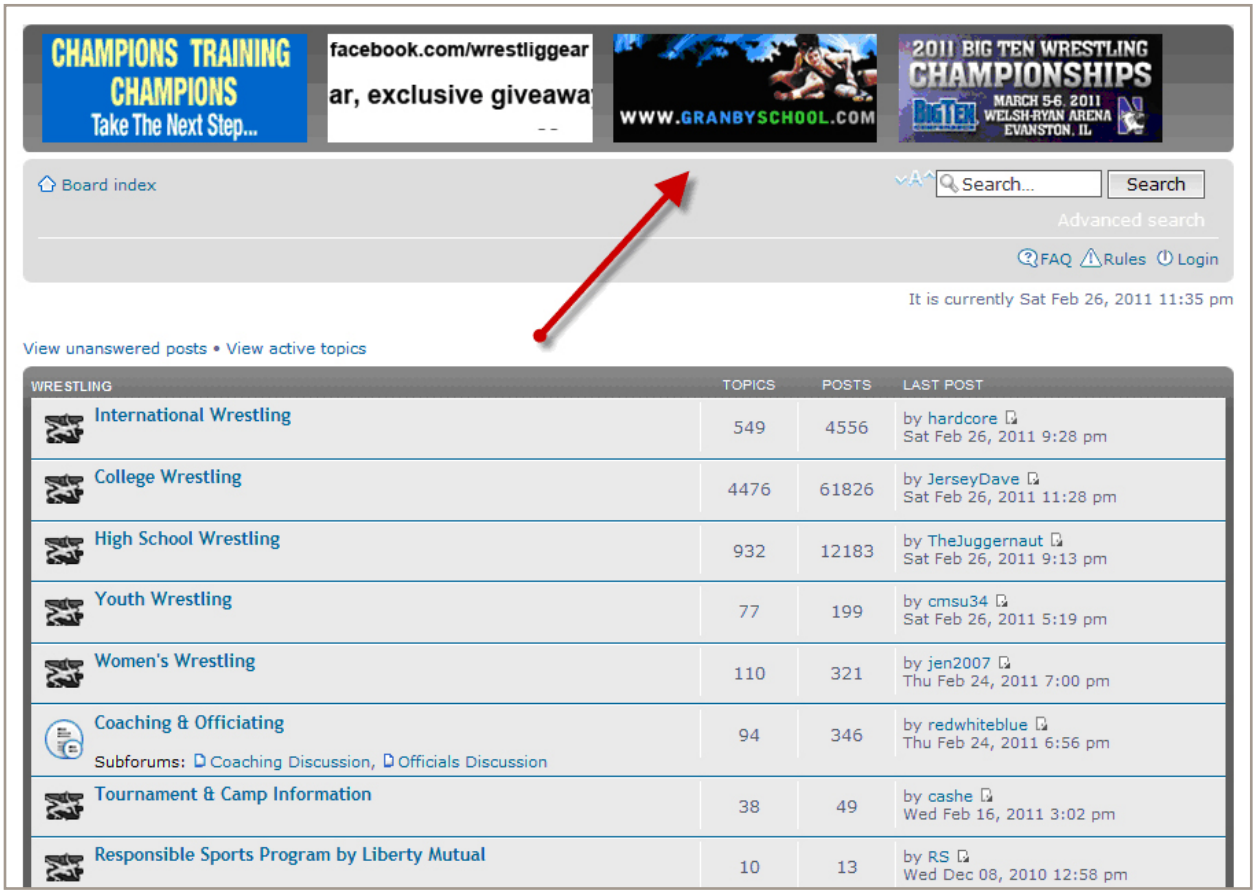

Now, don't worry, I'm not telling you to go out and go to churches to get responses to your ask campaign. I just want to illustrate the concept of "congregation" because people self congregate themselves together every day online!

That is the power of the internet. Before the internet, where would a potato gun enthusiast go to meet other spud shooters? Because of location and proximity it was impossible for niche groups to meet together.

Now because of the internet, we all have the ability to congregate together based on our interests.

Just think, what forums or fan book pages do you frequently visit? What newsletters or email lists do you belong to? You've congregated yourself with others who have the same interests as you.

When I was wrestling, I used to spend HOURS a day at TheMat.com along with 30,000 other wrestlers talking about wrestling. And guess where the savvy marketers were who were selling wrestling shoes and technique dvds?

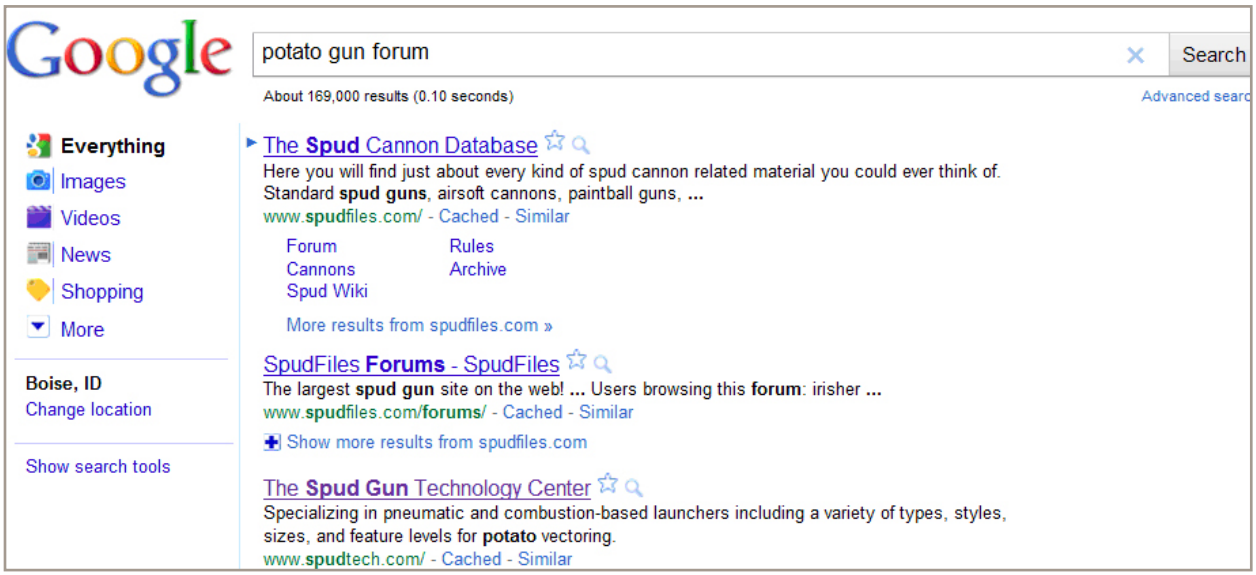

Yes... they were on that site because they found the existing congregation and then simply put their message out in front of everyone!

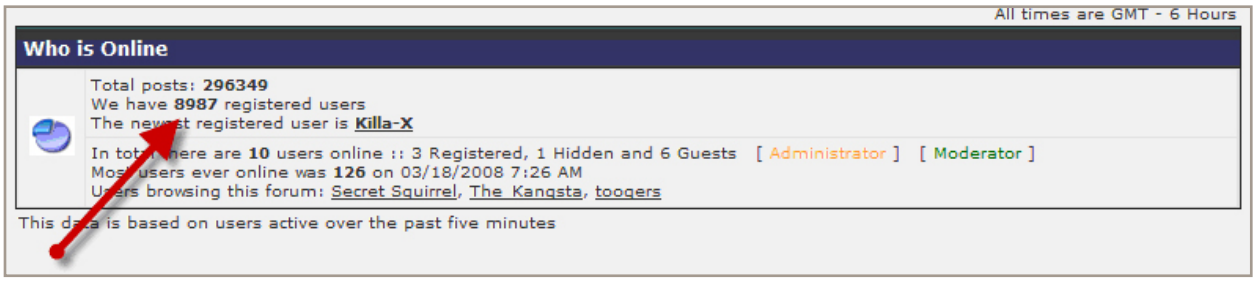

So, as a marketer, there are two important questions we always have to ask ourselves.

1. Who is my target market?
2. Where are they congregating?

When I created my potato gun flycatcher page, I immediately went to Foogle and typed in "Potato Gun Forum" and found quite a few forums full of potato gun enthusiasts.

Check out the congregation at SpudFiles.com:

Yes, they have 8,987 people who are on that site talking about potato guns.

So, now I know a few things:

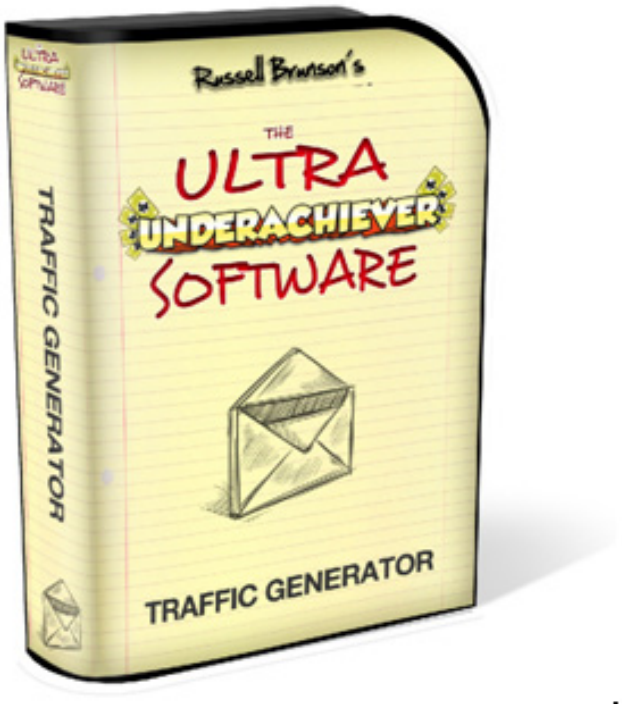

1. I have my flycatcher page setup
2. I know my target market
3. I know where they are congregating

All I have to do now is go and become part of that community, provide some value to it (so they don't think I'm just an annoying marketer), and after I've provided some value, just ask a simple question: "What Is Your #1 Question About _____?"

And then ask them to simply fill out your survey in exchange for a free copy of your product when it's finished!

Ultra Underachiever Traffic Generator Software

I'm not going to talk about this now, but you can also use the "Ultra Underachiever Traffic Generator" software that was included in this system.

In chapter 3b I will be showing you exactly how to use this software to get thousands of targeted visitors to your website quickly. You can also use this powerful software to get people to your flycatcher page.

Your 100 Questions...

The goal is to get about 100 people to fill out the survey. You can then take the responses you receive and use them in a few ways.

- Answer the Questions: When you are ready to create your product, you can take the questions you received and simply answer them. This is the easiest way to give your customers exactly what they want.

- Use the Questions in Your Sales Copy: When you create your sales letter, you will turn those questions into bullet points. For example, if someone asked you, "what's the best way to train your parrot how to speak?" you will turn that into a bullet point in your sales letter that says, "Discover the best ways to teach your parrot how to speak!"

- Find Out What They Want So You Can Give it to Them: The most important reason to ask your target market what they want is so you will know what they want (not what you THINK they want).

I have a close friend who had a product that taught students how to get a college scholarship. He tried for months to sell the product, but couldn't get any traction. He was about to give up when he had a thought. "I wonder if the parents of the high school kids would want to buy this product."

So he changed the sales letter to be written to the parent instead of the students and almost overnight his product became a huge success.

One of the other benefits of running an "ASK" campaign is if no one will fill out your survey, then you will know that the market you wanted to go after isn't looking for that information.

Why Run an "ASK" Campaign?

These are the four major questions that your "ASK" campaign will answer for you:

- Who should you be selling to?
- What do they actually want?
- What are their pain points?
- What words do they use to describe it?

Now, after I have the questions back from my "ASK" campaign, I am going to use those questions to create my system outline or table of contents. What normally happens is from the 100 responses you get back, you are going to get eight to 10 core questions from your audience.

I then take these 8 to 10 questions and turn them into chapter or module titles. After you have this outline, it becomes very easy to create your product. If you're writing a book, just answer the questions in each chapter. If you're making an audio or video product, each module is simply you answering the questions that your market has asked you.

Let Me Show You The Flycatcher => Ask Campaign In Action

Let me show you the steps I took when I created my "How To Make A Potato Gun Product."

Step 1: My FlyCatcher Page

I setup my flycatcher page the same way I showed you earlier:

Russell Brunson & Nathan Ploehn's

HowToMakeAPotatogun.com

Dear Fellow Potato Gun Lover,

I know that your time is valuable, so I'll get right to the point.

I need your advice!

I'm putting the finishing touches on a new course called "How To Make A Potato Gun," and want to make sure that I don't leave anything out.

So, will you let me know your biggest question about Potato Guns? It could be anything... even if you think it's silly.

All you have to do it type your question in the little box below and click submit. It exchange for your advice, you'll enter a drawing to get a free copy of our new course before we release it to the market. (Should be ready in a few weeks.)

Ok, here's the easy form:

What's Your Biggest Question About Potato Guns?

First Name:

Primary Email Address:

Submit Question

* We will never sell or rent your email address to any unauthorized third party.

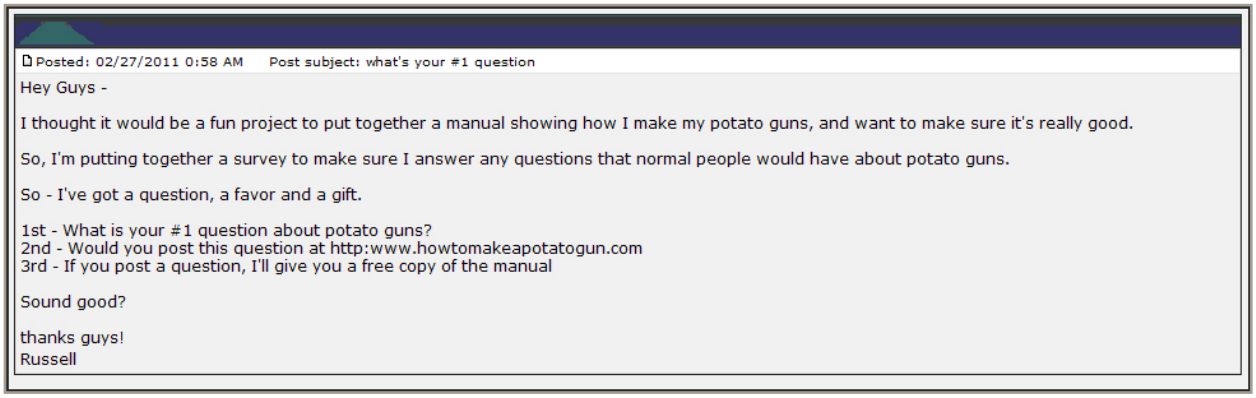

Thank you very much for helping make this the best "How To Make A Potato Gun" resource possible.

Sincerely,

Russell Brunson
Potato Gun Enthusiast

Step 2: Run An Ad

I identified who my target market is AND where they are congregating. I then asked my potato gun brothers for some help with my survey:

Posted: 02/27/2011 0:58 AM Post subject: what's your #1 question

Hey Guys -

I thought it would be a fun project to put together a manual showing how I make my potato guns, and want to make sure it's really good.

So, I'm putting together a survey to make sure I answer any questions that normal people would have about potato guns.

So - I've got a question, a favor and a gift.

1st - What is your #1 question about potato guns?
2nd - Would you post this question at http:www.howtomakeapotatogun.com
3rd - If you post a question, I'll give you a free copy of the manual

Sound good?

thanks guys!
Russell

Step 3: Ask Campaign

I get immediate feedback from them letting me know what their number one question is about how to make a potato gun. I run this campaign until I get 100 responses to my question.

Joe	New Question From Potato Gun Site - what are the different kinds of ignitor you can use for a potato gun	6/21/05
joshua	New Question From Potato Gun Site - the price of a basic potato gun	6/21/05
jacob	New Question From Potato Gun Site - i burn my hand thats the problem	6/20/05
josh	New Question From Potato Gun Site - all the questons	6/20/05
sam	New Question From Potato Gun Site - whats the requaial like	6/20/05
jake	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how do i fix it to be a repeater and use more than one potato? it\'s a pain in th	6/20/05
Riley	New Question From Potato Gun Site - What can I use as a fuel that wont cause my potatogun to explode	6/20/05
darren	New Question From Potato Gun Site - is this safe within city limits	6/20/05
jj	New Question From Potato Gun Site - what is the easyest and chepest way to mak a potato gun	6/20/05
mark	New Question From Potato Gun Site - the best air fule mixture	6/20/05
corey hethcoat	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how to make the potato luanch further	6/20/05
madison	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how do you make it start	6/20/05
Daniel	New Question From Potato Gun Site - What supplies do you need to build a potatogun. And what steps do you take	6/19/05
alex	New Question From Potato Gun Site - what to use for amunition and what to use to grease the barrel	6/19/05
kristen	New Question From Potato Gun Site - steps to make a potato gun	6/19/05
corbin	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how do you make a potato gun	6/19/05
Nick	New Question From Potato Gun Site - How do you launch a tennis ball	6/19/05
nate	New Question From Potato Gun Site - if you use pvc as the chamber and hook it up to an air compressor to shoot th	6/19/05
Steale	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how do you make them	6/19/05
JIM	New Question From Potato Gun Site - ARE THEY ILLEGAL TO OWN	6/19/05
Sunsfan (2)	New Question From Potato Gun Site - How fast can it shoot out a potato	6/18/05
Jerry (3)	New Question From Potato Gun Site - Where do I get the Seeds	6/18/05
Alan	New Question From Potato Gun Site - How to make them	6/18/05
bobette	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how do i build a potato gun	6/18/05
Ben	New Question From Potato Gun Site - Could a design for a large potato gun be altered to make it a water canon or v	6/18/05
zach	New Question From Potato Gun Site - what is the best fuse to use	6/18/05
mike	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how to make it	6/18/05
jim	New Question From Potato Gun Site - How do you make gun out of a potato	6/18/05
james (2)	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how to mix gas and equaley	6/17/05
james	New Question From Potato Gun Site - hi i just build my first potato gun. i was reading about using pressure treated	6/17/05
Mike	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how to make a fail proof ignition system	6/17/05
Derek	New Question From Potato Gun Site - how do I make a potato gun	6/16/05
Anthony Smith	New Question From Potato Gun Site - How hurt could you get fireing a spud gun	6/16/05
Nathan	New Question From Potato Gun Site - what material do you use	6/16/05
David	New Question From Potato Gun Site - If you have a 1 1/2\" barrel, does this improve the range of the gun as opposed	6/16/05
clean fuel Bill	New Question From Potato Gun Site - A good clean fuel	6/16/05
Landon	New Question From Potato Gun Site - What is the best and worst combustion chemicals to use	6/16/05

Step 4: Compiling The Questions Into A Table Of Contents

After I have the 100 questions back, while I start reading through them all, I'm going to quickly notice some trends. I will categories each of these questions into "modules" or "chapters" (you'll see why in the next chapter). I title each chapter with a "How To" and then list the major questions that relate to that chapter from the survey that fit under that chapter heading.

How To Make A Potato Gun

Table Of Contents

- Chapter #1 - How to decide which type of gun you want to create
  - What's a pneumatic gun?
  - What size gun should we build?
  - How do you build a bold action spud gun?
- Chapter #2 - How to pick the right pipes
  - What type of pipe do you use?
  - Do the PSI ratings on the pipes matter?
- Chapter #3 - How to find your other accessories you need before you start building
  - What type of igniter should I use?
  - bbq lighters or lantern igniters?
- Chapter #4 - How to cut the right barrel to chamber volume ratio
  - how long should I cut my pipes?
  - what happens if my chamber is too big or too small?
- Chapter #5 - How to put all of the pieces together
  - How do I assemble the gun?
  - What tools to I need to make my spud gun?
- Chapter #6 - How to increase the distance of your potatoes
  - what type of propellants should I use?
  - what if my gun won't shoot?
- Chapter #7 - How to stay safe while shooting your new gun!
  - am I going to die if I make the gun wrong?
  - has anyone ever died from a potato gun?

Step 5: Re-Write The Questions Into Bullet Points

Now that we already know what our target market is looking for, we need to take their questions, and turn them into selling statements so when they come to our site, we are providing EXACTLY what they want!

In chapter 3A we will be using these bullet points for the sales letter, but I want you to create them now, so you make sure that you answer each of the promises that you are making in your book when you start creating it.

Questions:

- What type of pipe do you use? Do the PSI ratings on the pipes matter?
- What type of igniter should I use? bbq lighters or lantern igniters?
- how long should I cut my pipes?
- what type of propellants should I use?
- am I going to die if I make the gun wrong?

Bullet Points:

- Discover the only pipe we will ever use AND the secret PSI rating that will guarantee that your potatoes go father and your gun will last longer.
- Find out which igniter we'll NEVER use (as well as a scary, near death experience that kept us from ever using it again), and why there is only one brand that we trust.
- You'll learn the correct barrel to chamber % that will keep you safe AND help your gun to shoot 25% farther! (WARNING - even being off 1/4 of an inch could make every potato you shoot a flop!
- Discover the secret propellant the we accidently stumbled upon (when we ran out of hair spray) that immediate made our gun shoot over 50 yards farther every time!
- Learn the safety secrets we use to make sure every potato gun outing safe as well as exciting!

CHAPTER 3A

GIVE IT TO THEM
(CREATING THE PRODUCT)

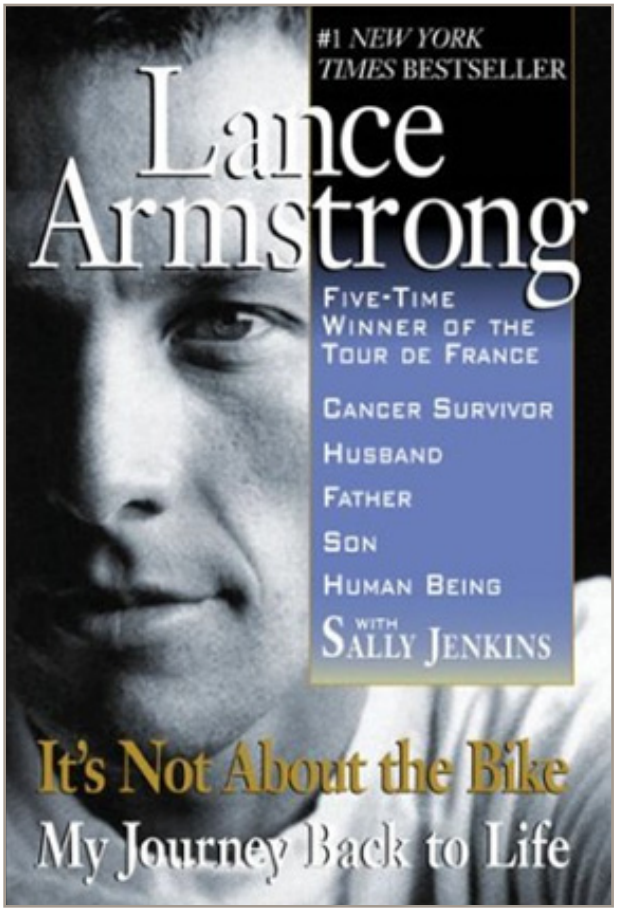

The Magical World Of Outsourcing

For most people the biggest barrier to creating and publishing an eBook is the fear of writing. The thought of writing a book is very intimidating and most people immediately put it in the 'too hard' basket.

What these people fail to realize is that there is no rule that says that you have to write a book in order to own it.

In fact, it may come as a surprise to you to learn that many people who are 'authors' of bestselling books didn't actually write their books at all!

A great example of this is Lance Armstrong's inspirational book 'It's Not About the Bike.' This book describes Lance Armstrong's battle with cancer and his amazing recovery to win the Tour de France six times in a row. It is an international bestseller and has been read by millions of people all over the world!

If you look closely at the book cover you can see that it says BY Lance Armstrong WITH Sally Jenkins. What this means is that Lance Armstrong worked with Sally Jenkins to make his book a reality.

Lance Armstrong is a professional cyclist not a writer. He and many other elite athletes realize that the quickest way to write and publish a book is by working with a ghostwriter.

A ghostwriter is someone who is paid to write material for their clients. Ghostwriters may work for a flat fee or for a percentage of the profits from book sales.

Now you may be thinking that only elite athletes or celebrities can afford to hire a ghostwriter but, these days it is easy and surprisingly affordable to hire a professional writer using the internet.

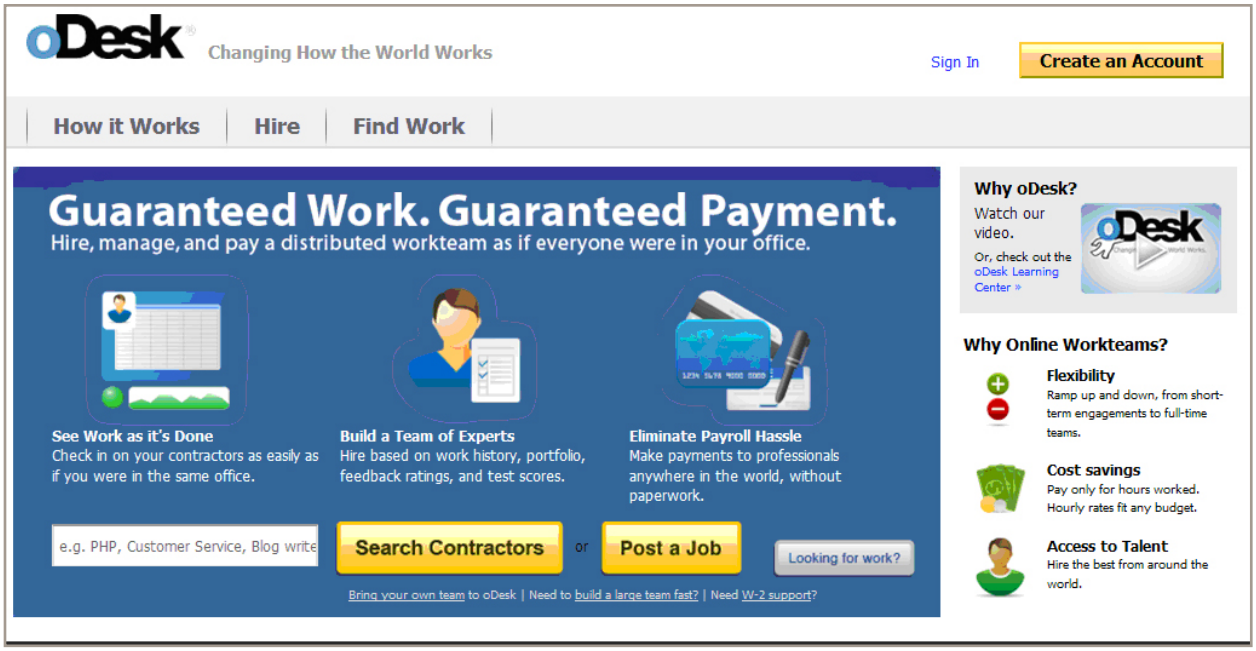

The website I recommend for hiring a ghostwriter is called www.Odesk.com.

Here's a brief overview of how things work at Odesk.

1. You post a project that describes the task you want done
2. Writers from around the world bid to work on your project
3. You review samples of each writer's work and read feedback from previous customers
4. You select a writer
5. Your writer completes your project for an agreed fee

Okay, let's get started.

Step 1: Register with Odesk.com

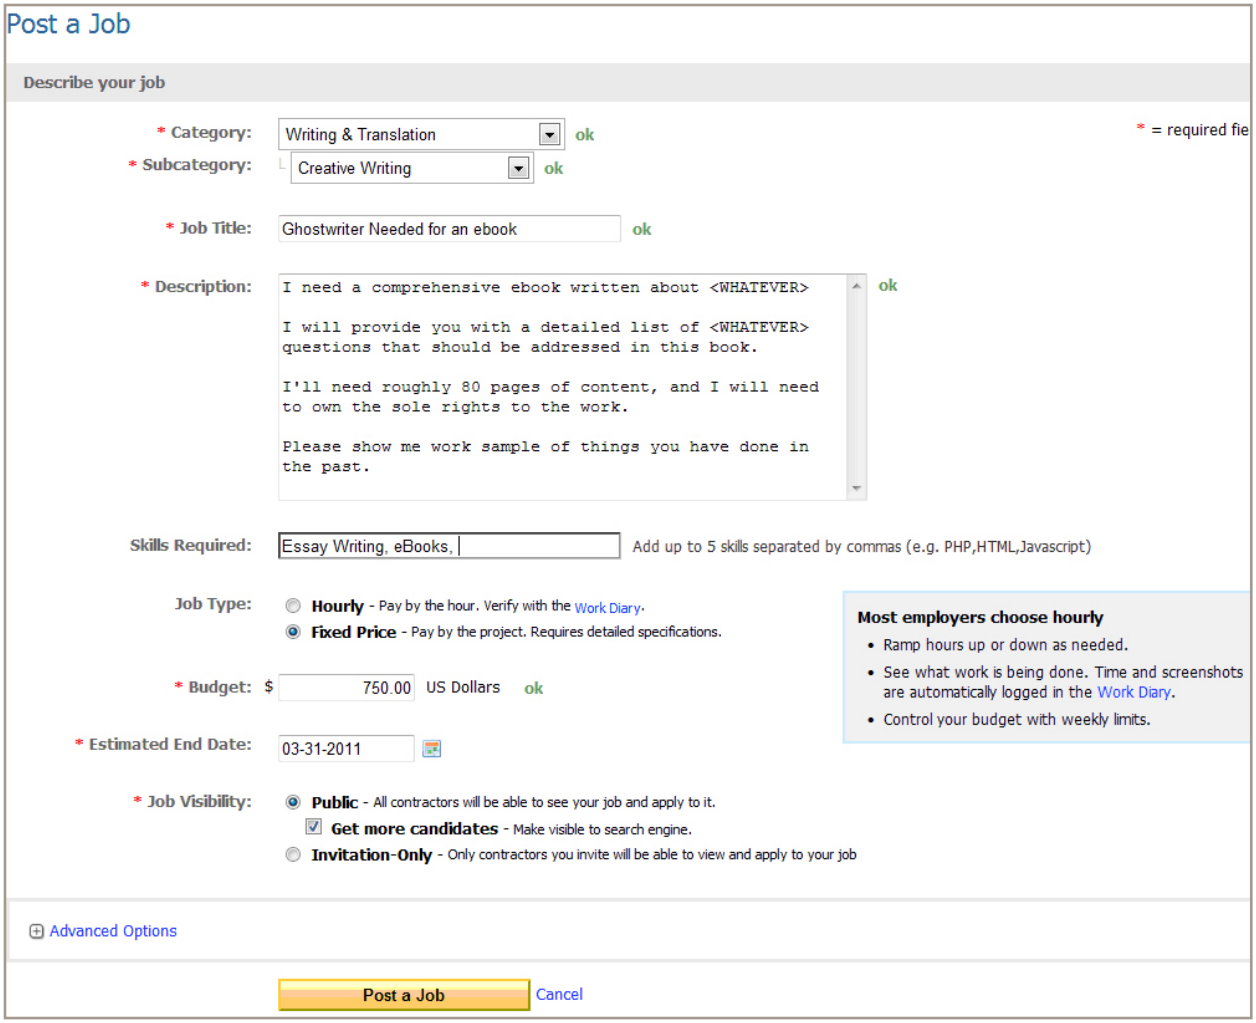

Click on the "Create An Account" button at the top, and then fill out the form on the next page to create your account.

Step 2: Post Your Project

After you login, click on the big yellow "Post A Job" button.

You will then be taken to a page that looks like this:

Choose a project title that describes what you need, but does not give awy the niche you are targeting. For example, use "Ghostwriter Needed" rather then "Writer needed to write a book about rabbit farming."

I usually like to set my budget at between $500 to $750 for an 80 page ebook.

When you describe your product, use this simple template:

```
I need a comprehensive ebook written about <WHATEVER>

I will provide you with a detailed list of <WHATEVER> questions that should be addressed in this book.

I'll need roughly 80 pages of content, and I will need to own the sole rights to the work.

Please show me work sample of things you have done in the past.
```

Replace the word <WHATEVER> with the topic of your book.

Step 3: Choose Your Writer

After a day or two, you will start seeing bids come in and you will be able to review the bids from writers who want to undertake your project.

When you start this process, each person who bids will submit to you a cover letter with their proposal. You will also be able to see all sorts of information about each person.

You'll get to see their feedback from others who have worked with them in the past:

	Last 6 mos.	All-time
Feedback:	★★★★★ (5.00) 0 feedbacks	★★★★★ (5.00) 1 feedbacks
Hours:	685	1,062
Contracts:	3	6

See all Work History & Feedback

Location:	Sterling Heights, United States (UTC-05)
English Skills: (self-assessed)	5.0
Member Since:	April 21, 2010
Last Worked:	February 24, 2011
oDesk Ready:	Yes

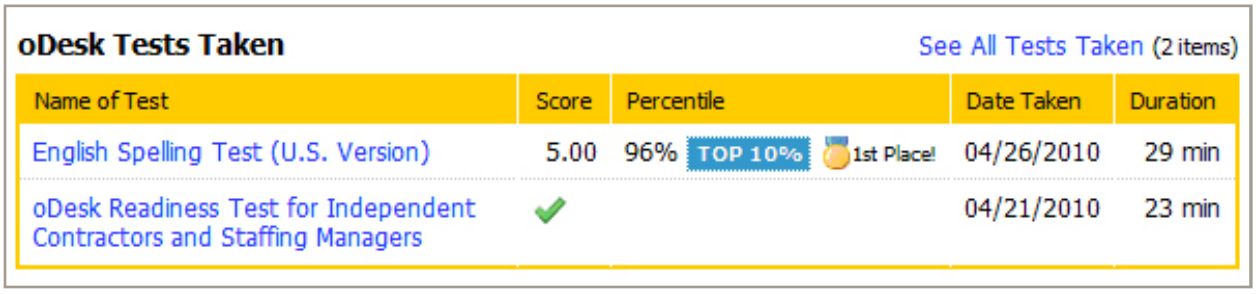

You'll be able to see recent work history. This will give you an idea about the other types of jobs they have taken in the past and how well they have done with them:

Recent Work History & Feedback See All Work History & Feedback (6 items, with Feedback)

Employer ID	From/To	Job Title	Paid	Feedback
151889	01/2011 - Present	Content Writer for Web site and	$683 (34 hrs @ $20.00/hr)	Job in progress
133564	05/2010 - Present	Marketing Writer / Web Copy / SEO Writing	$15,819 (989 hrs @ $16.00/hr)	Job in progress
61676	05/2010 - Present	Copywriter/Editor for eCommerce web site	$283 (17 hrs @ $16.67/hr)	Job in progress
37720	06/2010 - 01/2011	Animation Script Writing	$50 (fixed-price)	No feedback given Contractor-to-Employer Feedback: 5.0
51624	06/2010 - 06/2010	Experienced Copywriter Needed for Marketing Agency	$44 (4.50 hrs @ $9.78/hr)	No feedback given Contractor-to-Employer Feedback: 5.0

You'll also be able to see what test and certifications they have taken within odesk:

oDesk Tests Taken See All Tests Taken (2 items)

Name of Test	Score	Percentile	Date Taken	Duration
English Spelling Test (U.S. Version)	5.00	96% TOP 10% 1st Place!	04/26/2010	29 min
oDesk Readiness Test for Independent Contractors and Staffing Managers	✔		04/21/2010	23 min

While all of these are great indicators of talent, you always want to make sure that you look over samples of their work so you can see if you like their writing style.

Be sure to message them and start communicating with a bunch of people.

Remember, this is like a job interview for them and for you, so make sure you get to know who you are going to hire, and become very comfortable with them before you get started.

After you've found the person you feel comfortable working with, it's time to hire them!

Step 4: Work With Your Writer

After selecting your writer, you should send them the list of questions that you collected during your ask campaign as well as the table of contents you created.

You should instruct your writer to make sure that the book they are developing answers all of these questions, as well as other things they find that are related to your chapter titles.

From this point onwards, it is the writer's responsibility to conduct the research necessary to answer these questions and present the results in a well structured, high quality eBook.

You should keep in touch with your writer by using the message boards within oDesk and ask to see sample chapters as they are created.

Within about three weeks you should have your finished eBook!

When you receive your eBook make sure you get the original Microsoft Word file as well as a pdf document just in case you have to make updates later on.

Congratulations, you are now the owner of a professionally written eBook that answer the specific questions requested by members of your target market!

The next step is to write a sales letter to sell your product to your market.

How To Write A Killer Sales Letter

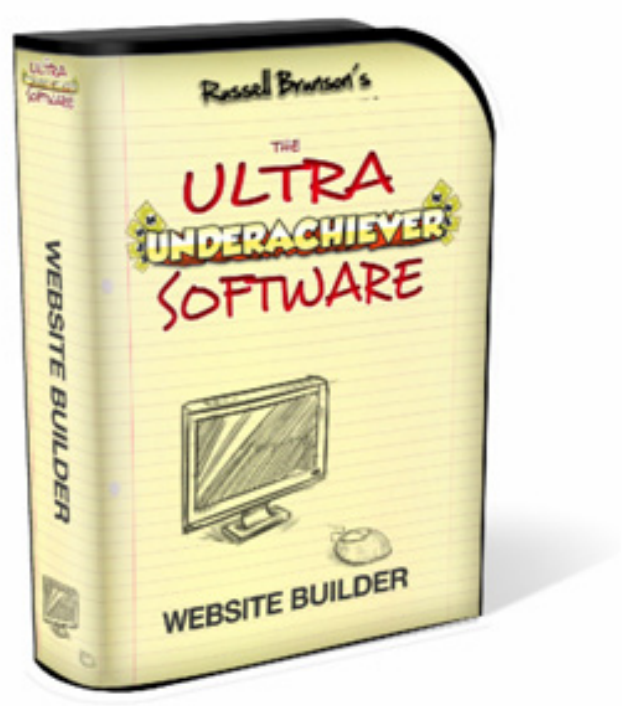

One of the most crucial skills that separate people who are successful on the Internet from those who struggle is the ability to write a compelling sales letter.

I'm sure that you've probably seen a lot of sales letters online, and noticed that those letters are very long!

You may initially think that no one would ever read all of this information on a website but it has been proven time and time again that if someone is interested in what you are selling, they will read every word of a long form sales letter. It has also been proven that this is without a doubt the most effective way of selling a product online.

Luckily for you, included in this system is software that will help you to write your very first sales letter!

So open up the "Ultra Underachiever Software" program that came with this system, and click on the website builder tab.

I recommend having this book open as you go through the software the first time because it will help you to understand the best way to "fill in the blanks" when you're writing your first sales letter!

To help you write an effective sales letter I have created an easy to follow step-by-step system which I call the Building Block Sales Letter System.

This system is based on the idea of building a tower with children's blocks.

What you are going to do is develop a series of simple 'building blocks' by filling in the following worksheets (or tabs in the software) and you will then be able to stack them one on top of the other to create your sales letter.

Building Block 1: Your Headline

The first building block that we will look at is your 'Headline Block.'

Many people mistakenly believe that the purpose of a headline is to attract as many people as possible. This is incorrect.

The real purpose of a headline is to grab the attention of your ideal customer. For example, let's say that you created an Underachiever website about how to make money as a wedding planner.

You could write a headline like:

"Learn How To Make $100 An Hour Doing What You Love"

This headline would have appealed to just about everyone.

However, if you are targeting a niche market, then it would make more sense to go with a headline that reads:

"Who Else Wants To Know How To Make Money Being A Wedding Planner?"

To anyone other than a wedding planning enthusiast, this headline is of no interest, but to someone who loves wedding planning it is extremely effective because it is specifically talking to them.

Once you have isolated your customer from the crowds of random surfers, you must give them a compelling reason to read your letter.

Remember, your reader will be judging your letter using the W.H.A.M principle:

- Why and
- How does this
- Affect
- Me?

They don't really care about you or how proud you are of your new eBook. They just want to know what's in it for them.

Your headline should therefore also contain a tangible benefit that will convince your reader that it is worth reading your letter.

For this example, I'm going to use my "How to Make a Potato Gun" sales letter. Let's take a look at its headline:

The tangible benefit that is offered is a way to make a potato gun for under $30, which is a great benefit if you have a genuine system to back up your claim.

The easiest way to develop an effective headline is to use proven headlines as a guide.

You can then substitute your product into the existing headlines until you find something suitable.

For example:

- Original Headline: "Who Else Wants A Whiter Wash – With No Hard Work?"
- Modified Headline: "Who Else Wants To Learn How To Make Their Own Potato Gun For Under $30 From Things You Can Find At Your Local Home Depot?"

Now it's your turn. On the following pages is a list of 101 of the best headlines ever written. Go through the list and jot down as many potential headlines as you can. Then have a break and revisit your list to narrow it down to the five headlines you like best.

Use Building Block Worksheet number one to record your headline shortlist and then read them out to members of your target market. Ask them which headline they find the most compelling.

101 Greatest Headlines Ever Written

1. They laughed when I sat down at the piano - but when I started to play!
2. They grinned when the waiter spoke to me in French - but their laughter changed to amazement at my reply.
3. Do you make these mistakes in English?
4. Can You Spot These 10 Decorating Sins?
5. How a "fool stunt" made me a star salesman
6. How a strange accident saved me from baldness
7. Who else wants a screen star figure?
8. Who else wants a lighter cake - in half the mixing time?
9. Free to brides - $2 to others
10. Free to high school teachers - $6 to others
11. Announcing the new Ford cars for (year)
12. Are You Ashamed of Smells In Your Home?
13. Buy No Desk Until You've Seen The Sensation Of The Business Show
14. Can You Talk About Books With The Rest Of Them?
15. Car Insurance At Low Cost - If You're A Careful Driver
16. Car Owners.....Save One Gallon of Gas Every Ten
17. Double Your Money Back If This Isn't The Best Onion Soup You Ever Tasted
18. Free Book Tells You 12 Secrets Of Better Lawn Care
19. Get Rid Of Money Worries For Good
20. Girls.....Want Quick Curls?
21. Greatest Bible News In 341 Years
22. Great New Discovery Kills Kitchen Odors Quick - makes indoor air "country fresh"
23. Hand Woven by the Mountain People of New Mexico
24. Have You These Symptoms of Nerve Exhaustion?
25. Five Familiar Skin Troubles - Which Do You Want To Overcome?
26. "Here's an extra $50, Grace - I'm making real money now!"
27. Here's a Quick Way to Break Up a Cold
28. How a Man of 40 Can Retire In 15 Years
29. How I Became Popular Overnight
30. How I Improved My Memory In One Evening
31. How I Made A Fortune With A "Fool" Idea
32. How Investors Can Save 70% On Commissions This Year
33. How I Raised Myself From Failure To Success In Selling
34. How To Do Your Christmas Shopping in 5 Minutes
35. How I Retired On a Guaranteed Income for Life
36. How I Started a New Life With $7

37. How $7 Started Me On The Road to $35,000 a Year
38. How The Next 90 Days Can Change Your Life
39. How To Beat Tension Without Pills
40. How To Collect From Social Security At Any Age
41. How To Feel Fit At Any Age
42. How To Get Rid of an Inferiority Complex
43. How To Get Your Cooking Bragged About
44. How To Have A Cool, Quiet Bedroom Even On Hot Nights
45. How To Make Money Writing Short Paragraphs
46. How To Stop Worrying
47. How To Stretch Your Inflated Money
48. How To Win Friends and Influence People
49. How $20 Spent May Save You $2000
50. How you Can Get a Loan of $500
51. I Lost That Ugly Bulge in 2 Minutes With This Reducing Belt
52. It Cleans Your Breath While It Cleans Your Teeth
53. "I Gambled With 3 Cents And Won $35,850 In 2 Years"
54. Imagine Me....Holding an Audience Spellbound for 30 minutes.
55. "I've Tried 'Em All, But This Is The Polish I Use On My Own"
56. I Was Tired Of Living On Peanuts - so I started reading (publication)
57. Men who "know it all" are not invited to read this page
58. Money-saving Bargain from America's Oldest Diamond Discount House
59. New....a Cream Deodorant Which Safely Stops Perspiration
60. New House Paint Made By (manufacturer)
61. No Time For Yale - Took College Home By Reading The Harvard Classics
62. Now! Own Florida Land This Easy Way. $20 Down and $20 a Month.
63. One Place-setting Free For Every Three You Buy.
64. Order Christmas Gifts Now - Pay After January 20.
65. Owners Save 20% to 50% On Fuel With The (name) Oil Furnace
66. Play Guitar in 7 Days or Money Back
67. Quick Relief for Tired Eyes.
68. Lose Ugly Fat - an Average of 7 Pounds a Month.
69. If You Are A Careful Driver You Can Save Money On Car Insurance.
70. Readers Digest Tells Why Filtered Cigarette Smoke Is Better For Your Health
71. Ways To Beat The Overweight Habit
72. Ways To Beat The High Cost Of Living
73. New Ways To A Man's Heart In This Fascinating New Book For Cooks
74. The Lazy Man's Way To Riches - Most people are too busy earning a living to make any money
75. The Deaf Now Hear Whispers
76. The Most Amazing Shakespeare Bargain Ever Offered
77. The Most Comfortable Shoes You've Ever Worn Or Your Money Back

78. The Most Complete and Most Scholarly Dictionary in the English language $17.50.....Publisher's List Price: $90
79. The Secret of Making People Like You
80. The Tastiest Ocean Treat from Gloucester- Plump, Tender, Juicy Salt Mackerel Fillets
81. They Thought I Was Crazy To Ship LIVE MAINE LOBSTERS as far as 1,800 miles from the ocean.
82. Thousands Have This Priceless Gift - But Never Discover It
83. Thousands Now Play Who Never Thought They Could
84. To A Mother Whose Child Is Three Years Old
85. To A $15,000 Man Who Would Like To Be Making $30,000
86. To A Man Who Is 35 And Dissatisfied
87. To Men Who Want To Quit Work Some Day
88. You Don't Have To Be Rich To Retire On a Guaranteed Income For Life
89. A WARNING To Men Who Want To Be Independent In The Next Five Years
90. Wanted: Safe Men For Dangerous Times
91. Wanted - Your Services As A High-Paid Real Estate Specialist
92. What's New In Summer Sandwiches?
93. Tonight Serve This Ready-mixed Chocolate Pudding
94. Who Else Wants A Whiter Wash - With No Hard Work?
95. What's Wrong In This Picture?
96. When Doctors "Feel Rotten" This Is What They Do
97. Which Of These Five Skin Troubles Would You Like To End?
98. Will Your Scalp Stand The "Fingernail Test?"
99. Give Me 5 Days and I'll Give You a Magnetic Personality..... Let Me Prove It Free
100. What Makes A Woman Lovable?
101. To People Who Want To Write - But Can't Get Started.

Building Block 1 Headline

MY HEADLINE SHORTLIST

MY MAIN HEADLINE

Review Checklist

Will your headline appeal to your ideal customer? YES | NO

Does your headline contain a tangible benefit? YES | NO

Building Block #2: Your Opening

The next building block that you will create is your 'Opening' building block. This block is very easy and should only take a few minutes to create.

There are three parts to your 'Opening' building block.

1. Revealing who your letter is from
2. Your Greeting
3. An Opening Sentence

The first part is simply reveal who the letter is from.

The second part is your greeting. Just keep it simple. Don't use 'Dear Reader' or anything weird like that. Just use Dear Friend.

The third part of your 'Opening' building block is your opening sentence. A good format to use is the 'If – Then' opening. The 'If – Then' opening basically says "If you are my ideal customer, then you should read this letter." Of course you can't actually say that!

So here is the opening for my "How to Make A Potato Gun" sales letter:

> From: Russell Brunson
>
> Dear Friend,
>
> If you are interested in learning how to create your own potato gun from home, then this is going to be the most exciting message you will ever read.

Using this example as a guide, take a moment to fill in the worksheet on the following page to complete your 'Opening' building block.

Building Block #2 – Opening

REVEAL WHO THE LETTER IS FROM

YOUR GREETING

Dear Friend,

YOUR OPENING SENTENCE

Building Block #3: Connect With Your Reader

The aim of this block is to connect with your reader and to establish that what you have to say is relevant and important to them.

To do this effectively you have to :

- Know how your customer thinks
- Know how your customer feels
- Know what your customers' biggest frustrations are
- Know what your customers' biggest worries are
- Know what your customer really wants
- Identify common experiences that your customer can relate to

You can obtain a lot of this information by reviewing the questions that you received from your flycatcher page.

Another good way to get in touch with your target market is to simply talk to them, either directly or on the phone.

The worksheet on the following page will help you to collate the information you need to really "tune in" to your target market.

Building Block 3a: Connect With The Reader

1. WHAT ARE MEMBERS OF YOUR TARGET MARKET MOST FRUSTRATED ABOUT?

2. WHAT ARE MEMBERS OF YOUR TARGET MARKET MOST WORRIED ABOUT?

3. WHAT DO MEMBERS OF YOUR TARGET MARKET WANT MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE?

4. WHAT ARE SOME SPECIFIC EXPERIENCES THAT MEMBERS OF YOUR TARGET MARKET CAN RELATE TO?

Building Block 3: Connect With Your Reader (cont.)

It is now time to use the information that you have collected to develop your 'Connect With Reader' building block. What you really want to do is create a brief story that your readers can personally relate to. As they read this story they should be nodding their head and saying, "Hey, that's just like me!"

They should become more and more engaged by your letter as you touch upon their greatest frustrations and worries. To see how this works in the real world, see how we did it in my potato gun letter:

There is an amazing new ebook called, "How To Make A Potato Gun." It covers nearly everything you need to know about getting up and started with your own potato gun... as soon as TOMORROW!

Imagine being able to pull out your home made gun at the next family outing and impressing everyone with how far it shoots!

Wouldn't it be great to finally be the talk of the party!

In Just A Few Days From Now You Could Have Your Own Potato Gun!

Now, I didn't start out as a potato gun shooting stud.

I made my first gun, and well... lets just say it wasn't always consistent.

Some days I'd be launching 'taters like there's no tomorrow, while the next afternoon...I couldn't fire a friggin' potato to save my life.

Man, it was frustrating...BIG time!

I mean, I had NO consistency at all. Half the time, I'd be standing there flicking the ignition switch repeatedly like a moron...while my buddies and their girlfriends were standing there waiting for something to shoot out of my sorry spud launcher.

Of course, my buddies would try to be helpful and throw in their $0.02 on what I should do. You know what I'm talking about. "You've gotta use thiiis type of fuel...you've gotta hold the gun in thiiis angle....you've gotta spray thiis amount of fuel in the combustion chamber..."

Yeah right!

Meanwhile, they were repeatedly launching 'taters with the explosive velocity of a Civil War cannon! And I was sitting there like a darn poser with my wimpy spud stick in my hand.

Heck...

I Might As Well Stayed Home And Played Playstation Or Watched Football...Anything To Keep From Being Humiliated At The Next Outing!

After awhile, my "buds" stopped inviting me to go hang out with them. Of course, they never told me to my face...I'd just hear it through the grapevine at school or something.

But, thankfully, I'm not a quitter!

And that's how I ran into expert spud tech Nathan (I call him Nate). And my spud-shooting instantly changed forever.

You see, Nate grew up in Idaho (the spud capital of the world) and has been shooting' off taters since he was a little boy. I met Nate in 2001 when I moved to Idaho for college for wrestling.

In fact, it was Nate who overheard me complaining about my crappy experience with potato guns. He then took me aside and told me stuff you wouldn't believe!

In a few short weeks after listening to Nathan's advice:

- I started launching spuds with so much raw power that I was consistently firing 'taters at least 50 yards farther than I ever had before! (And you should have seen the look on my buddies faces when I started putting their expensive setups to shame!)

- I saw a 110% improvement in my ignition rate (whereas I used to fumble around with the ignition...hoping that something...anything...will fire out of that barrel!).

And it just got better and better! My buds started inviting me back to weekend outings. I mean, I became absolutely fearless out there. Everybody watch in awe as I launched spud after spud into Kingdom Come.

You see, everyone thought I had some special voodoo power that enabled me to rocket 'taters with flawless precision.

Building Block 3b: Connect With Reader

MY CONNECT WITH READER BLOCK

Building Block 4: Credibility

Now that you have connected with your reader, it's time to develop your 'Credibility' block. The aim of this fourth building block is to establish why the reader should be interested in listening to what you have to say.

Now, if you're not an expert, it's very important that you don't represent yourself as one. Not only would this be morally wrong but it would probably also be considered false advertising which is illegal.

Never make any claims in your sales letter that are not 100 percent true.

The best way to achieve credibility for an Underachiever site is to tell the truth! Tell your reader that you asked people just like them what they wanted to know and then you answered their question.

Here's the excerpt from my letter:

> I wanted to take what I learned from Nate and turn it into a product that could help others who were in the same situation as me.
>
> And It's Not Like Any Other Book Or Video You've Ever Watched On Making Potato Guns...
>
> Why?
>
> Simple, every section of the book is there because "you asked for it." Well, not "you" really. But from real live questions.
>
> Questions from people who love potato guns and wanted to know more. A simple webpage we setup, and people like you visited it and left me their most pressing questions on how to make a potato gun.
>
> Then I answered them!
>
> Which means no fluff. Just the real answers you want to know!

Using this as an example, create your own credibility block and write it down on the worksheet on the next page.

Building Block 4: Credibility

WHY SHOULD A VISITOR TO YOUR SITE BE INTERESTED IN READING WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY?

Building Block 5: Power Bullets

A Power Bullet is a brief descriptive statement that describes a single benefit that your eBook provides.

Power Bullets are one of the most effective components of any sales letter. Often a single bullet point that specifically appeals to a reader can be enough to convince them to purchase your product. Here are some example bullets from my letter:

Here are some of the critical things you MUST know (and you'll learn in this ebook) if you want to build the ultimate 'tater gun in the shortest time possible:

- The BEST fuel to use to launch potatoes with jaw-dropping velocity. (Nate has tested all this stuff out...and this is HANDS DOWN the best one to use!).
- The absolutely WORST fuel you could use (Man, I see people use this type of fuel all the time and absolutely laugh when they're spending most of their Saturday morning cleaning the crap out of their combustion chamber!)
- The one PROVEN type of pipe you MUST use when building a potato gun (You DON'T want to screw this up...get the wrong type and the gun might blow up in your face!).
- How to figure out the correct barrel to chamber ratio (This is CRITICAL...if you screw this up, your spud will just plop ten feet in front of you.)
- The right type (and amount) of glue to use to put the whole shebang together...and the CORRECT method for joining the parts.
- The BEST potato to use if you want to get the greatest flight time with your spud shooter!
- The in's and out's of jerry-riggin' the proper ignition system so that your potato gun fires off round after round like clockwork!
- Important tips you must remember when you go out on the range (including how to load the potato, the right amount of fuel to stick in the combustion chamber, and safety stuff you MUST be aware of when shootin' off these things!).

So, What's The Ability To Launch A Spud With Effortless Precision Worth To You?

As you can see, good power bullets catch your readers attention. It's wise to start your bullets with words like:

- Discover...
- Find out...
- How to...
- Learn...
- The techniques that...
- The hidden...
- The surprising...
- The little-known secret that...
- The very best ways to...
- An ingeniously simple secret to...
- EXPOSED...
- REVEALED...
- The tiny adjustment that...
- 7 ways to...
- The truth about...

The other important thing to notice is that most of the Power Bullets are 'blind.' What this means is that the Power Bullet gives a clear picture of the benefit that the reader will receive but does not give away the exact secret you're talking about. This acts to make the reader very curious about the contents of your eBook. One of the best things about the Underachiever Secrets system is that you can use the questions that you collected on your flycatcher page to create your power bullets. For example:

? FROM YOUR FLYCATCHER PAGE	POWER BULLET
How do I get started?	How to quickly and easily get started in making your first potato gun (it truly is easier then eating French fries!)
What type of pipe should I use?	Discover the only pipe we will ever use AND the secret Psi rating that will guarantee that your potatoes go farther and your gun will last longer!
What type of propellants should I use?	Discover the secret propellant that we accidently stumbled upon (when we ran out of hair spray) that immediately made our gun shoot over 40 yards farther every time!

Do you now see why I gave you that assignment in chapter two?

Building Block #5 – Power Bullets

? FROM YOUR FLYCATCHER PAGE	POWER BULLET

Building Block 6: Testimonials

One of the biggest problems on the Internet is developing trust. A great way to do this is to use genuine testimonials from people who have read your ebook to reinforce the value of your product.

Now you may be asking "How do I get testimonials when I am just starting out and haven't sold any copies of my book?"

To answer this question, think back to when you set up your Flycatcher page.

Remember that you promised the people who submitted a question that they would get a free copy of your book?

Well, as soon as you receive your book from your Odesk writer, you should fulfill your promise and send a free copy to the people who gave you questions.

When you send them the ebook, thank them for their help and ask if they would give you some feedback on what they think of your finished book.

A few people will hopefully take the time to reply.

Building Block #6 – Testimonials

YOUR TESTIMONIALS

Building Block #7: Price Justification

The next building block is your 'Price Justification' block. The purpose of this block is to highlight the value that your product provides. The best way to do this is to identify a more expensive alternative to your product and then contrast your product with this alternative. For example, let's say that you are selling your eBook for $39.95. While this is quite a lot of money, compared to a $2,000 seminar, it is very cheap and represents exceptional value. When selling your eBook, here are some things that you can use to justify your price:

- The cost of seminars
- The cost of courses
- The cost of personal tuition
- The cost of other existing products
- The cost of consulting fees

It's a little trickier with potato guns, but here's how we did it:

What's A Resource Like This Worth?

To have someone do all of this research for you would normally cost you around $300 (I should know, that's what it cost me!). Particularly laser-guided accurate information like this - SPECIFICALLY for making potato guns! This isn't some boiler-plate collection of answers.

Everything is explained in PLAIN English, which means it's dead-easy to read and understand. And it's logically laid out.

There are other resources out there retailing for over $100.

Which is why "How To Make A Potato Gun" is such a bargain at just $29.97!

That's right, a fraction of what it's really worth and what it cost me to research. Why would I make it so affordable? Simply because my costs to deliver it to you are so low.

So I figure I'll be able to offer this fantastic resource of information to more people, and hopefully make my investment back over time.

$29.97 is a drop in the bucket compared to what you could spend in pipes alone if you try to buy them without knowing the CORRECT products you need.

Building Block #7 – Price Justification

IF YOUR BOOK DIDN'T EXIST HOW ELSE WOULD SOMEONE OBTAIN THE INFORMATION YOU ARE PROVIDING? EG. SEMINARS, PERSONAL TRAINERS, ETC.

EXACTLY HOW MUCH WOULD THESE ALTERNATIVES COST YOUR CUSTOMER?

MY PRICE JUSTIFICATION BLOCK

Building Block 8: Guarantee

One of the main barriers to making sales online is that people are genuinely afraid of being ripped off. Their fears include:

- Paying with their credit card and then not receiving your product
- Receiving a poor quality product that does not meet their needs
- Being out of pocket and not being able to get their money back

All of these concerns are completely valid.

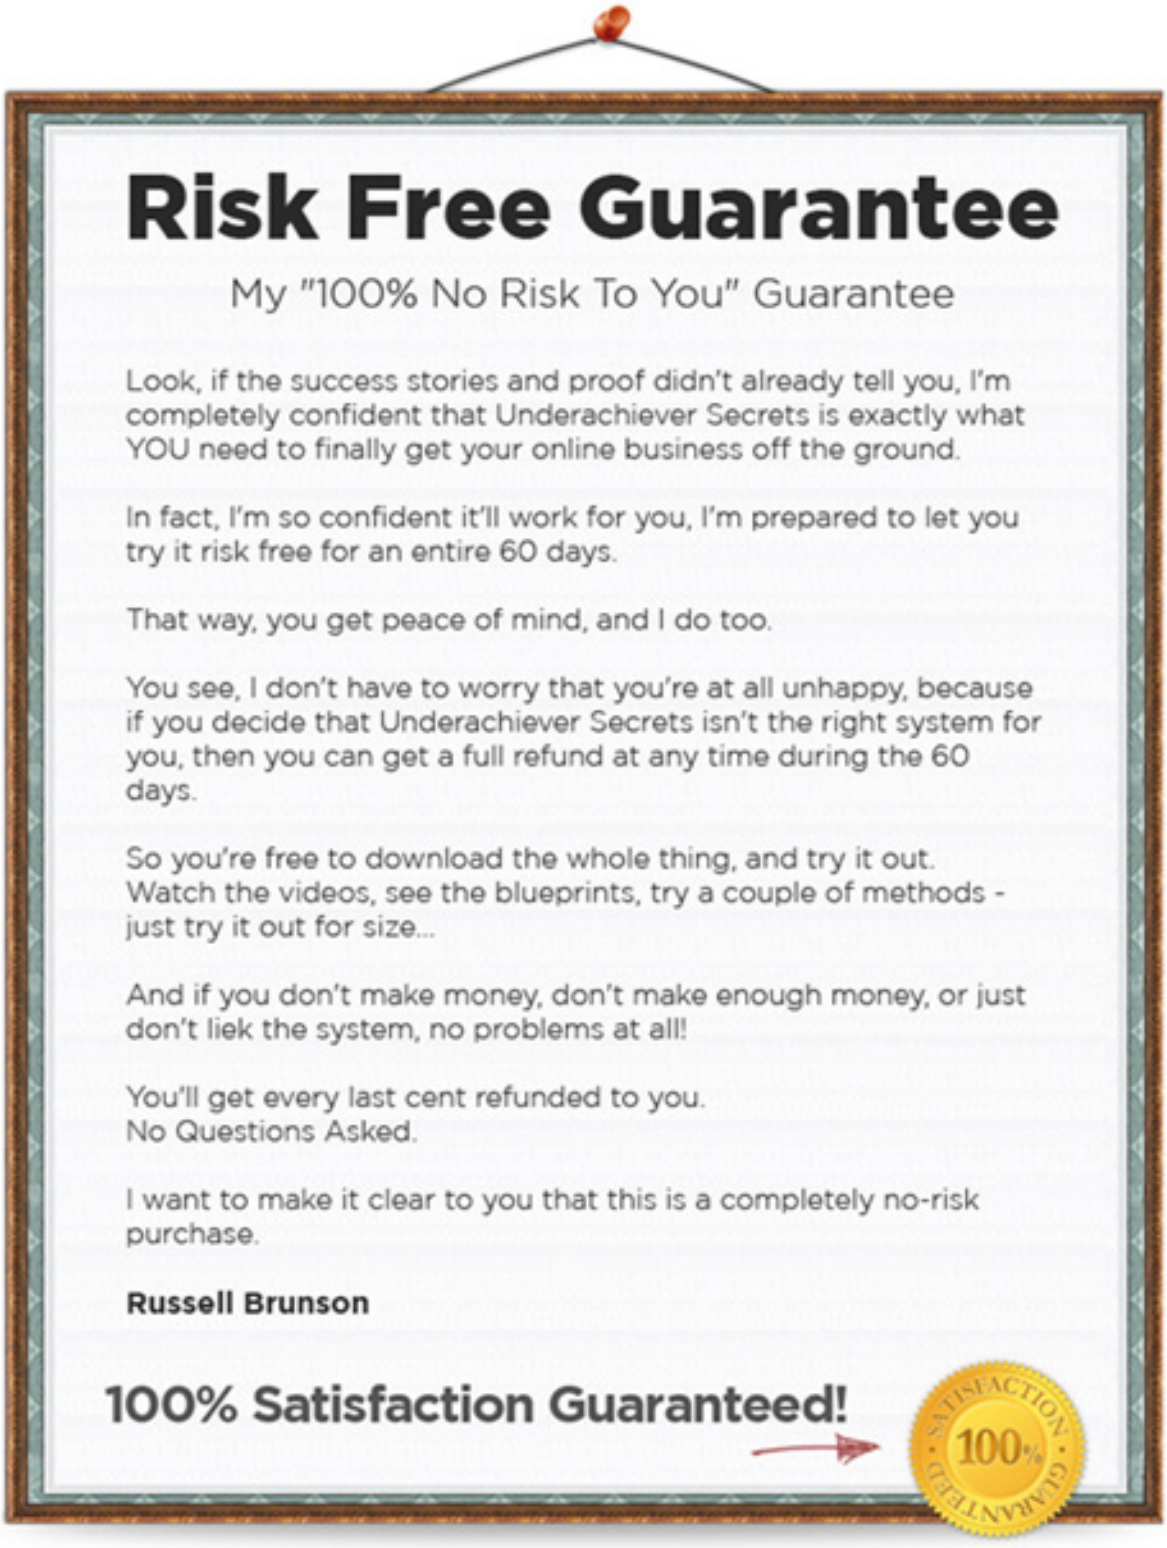

The best way to address these concerns is to offer your customers an Iron Clad Money Back Guarantee.

When your prospects reads a well worded guarantee, it gives them confidence that they will get exactly what they are looking for. It takes away the risk associated with the purchase and also gives them more confidence in you.

Many people think, "If I put my money back guarantee in my letter people will just read my book and then ask for their money back!"

If you are offering a high quality product that truly delivers on the promises that you make in your sales letter, you will find that very few people take you up on your guarantee. Remember, 98 percent of people are honest and you should cater for that majority. The extra sales generated by offering a comprehensive guarantee will more than compensate for the tiny minority of dishonest people who will abuse it.

Do you remember the guarantee I gave you when you bought this course? Here's another look:

Risk Free Guarantee
My "100% No Risk To You" Guarantee
Look, if the success stories and proof didn't already tell you, I'm completely confident that Underachiever Secrets is exactly what YOU need to finally get your online business off the ground.
In fact, I'm so confident it'll work for you, I'm prepared to let you try it risk free for an entire 60 days.
That way, you get peace of mind, and I do too.
You see, I don't have to worry that you're at all unhappy, because if you decide that Underachiever Secrets isn't the right system for you, then you can get a full refund at any time during the 60 days.
So you're free to download the whole thing, and try it out. Watch the videos, see the blueprints, try a couple of methods - just try it out for size...
And if you don't make money, don't make enough money, or just don't liek the system, no problems at all!
You'll get every last cent refunded to you.
No Questions Asked.
I want to make it clear to you that this is a completely no-risk purchase.
Russell Brunson
100% Satisfaction Guaranteed!
SATISFACTION GUARANTEED
100%

Building Block 8: Guarantee

MY GUARANTEE BLOCK

Building Block 9: Bonus

By this point in your sales letter your reader should be just about convinced that they are going to buy your eBook. What you need now, is that something extra to nudge them over the threshold.

The best way to do this is by adding bonuses.

Your Bonus Block should provide your reader with something that has a high perceived value that they receive at no extra cost.

A good way to develop your bonus is to ask yourself the following question:

"What else could I give my customer that would help them solve their problem?"

Here is a list of ideas of things you could offer as a bonus:

- An email or a phone consultation
- A list of web resources
- A workbook
- Access to a members area
- An additional eBook (one you create, or one you purchase resale rights to)
- A collection of useful letters
- An interview with a leading expert in your niche
- The transcripts of an interview with leading experts in your niche
- Downloadable videos

Building Block 9: Bonus

WHAT ELSE COULD YOU GIVE YOUR CUSTOMER TO HELP THEM SOLVE THEIR PROBLEM?

MY BONUS BLOCK

Building Block 10: Call To Action

Your 'Call To Action' block needs to do two things:

1. It needs to make it very clear what the reader needs to do to order your eBook
2. It needs to create a sense of urgency that makes the reader act immediately

Don't back away from asking for the order. If someone has read all the way to the end of your sales letter, chances are that they are very interested in your offer, so make it as easy as possible for them to order.

A good way to create a sense of urgency is to let your reader know that the price of your eBook is an introductory price only and that the price may increase in the near future. This should in fact be quite true because when you release your eBook you need to determine the most profitable price point for your eBook.

The best way to do this is to start at a low price like $19.95 and then two weeks later increase the price to $24,95 then two weeks later increase the price to $29.95 then increase it again to $39.95.

At each price point, you should calculate the profitability of your business. The important thing to understand here is that the higher price point may be more profitable even though you may sell fewer eBooks. For example, five sales at $19.95 leads to $99.75 in income, BUT 3 sales at $39.95 leads to $119.85 in income.

So you do not necessarily want to find the price at which you sell the most books, but rather the price at which your business is most profitable.

But I don't know how long I'll keep these bonuses up there. It's part of a marketing test I'm doing. They're worth a lot to me and I will probably start selling them each as stand alone products soon. So if you want them, get in quick.

Yes Russell - I Want To Get My Own Copy Of "How To Make A Potato Gun!" I Understand That When I Order I'll Receive:

- A copy of the "How To Make A Potato Gun eBook"
- Three 60 minute interviews with the worlds top spud masters
- A free email consultation
- The ability to put a picture of my next potato gun on your website!

Click here To Order Securely Through Click bank

Wishing you great success,

Russell Brunson

Building Block 10: Call To Action

MY CALL TO ACTION BLOCK

Review Checklist

Does your block clearly describe what the reader needs to do to order your eBook?
YES | NO

Does your block create a sense of urgency that encourages the reader to act immediately? YES | NO

Building Block 11: P.S.

The final building block that you will need for your sales letter is a P.S. block. Don't underestimate the importance of this block. Many people actually scroll through a sales letter and read the P.S. before they read anything else!

Your P.S. is an opportunity to restate the key benefit that your eBook provides. In many ways it is like a 'headline' that goes at the very end of your letter to sum everything up. Here is an example:

> P.S. Don't forget, you're getting $348 worth of bonuses for just a fraction of that price. Everything you need to get started with your own potato gun is included in this package. So if you'd like your own gun, then this is the opportunity that you've been waiting for!
>
> Click here To Order Securely Through Click bank

Building Block 11: P.S.

MY P.S. BLOCK

Review Checklist

Does your block restate the key benefit that your product provides? YES | NO

How To Create Your Website

There are a few steps to getting your first website up and running and accepting payments.

I don't want to make this a technical manual on the steps to get your site up, but I do want to give you a few keys that I think will help to speed up your process a lot.

I believe there are a few steps and elements that are important to understand, but I want to stress something similar that we covered in the outsourcing section of the book.

We showed you how to outsource writing an eBook, but I recommend following the SAME steps to outsource designing and setting up your website.

For literally $2 to $5 an hour you can get people with degrees in programming and design on oDesk to create your websites for you. We use outsourced workers to design our websites, upload them to our hosting accounts, edit the content, add our payment buttons and more!

So that is what I'd recommend you to do as well, but even with that, there are a few things that I feel are very important to know with regards to setting up your website.

Step 1: Your Domain Name

The first step to getting your website up online is to purchase a domain name. A lot of people use www.GoDaddy.com. I personally use www.EnomCentral.com. I haven't really found a major difference in any of them, so just take your pick.

Usually a domain name is going to cost you about $10 a year. I ALWAYS recommend getting a .com. If you can't get the .com, then try to add some words in front of the domain or at the end (like "instant" or "the") before you buy a .net or .org.

So, the first step is to buy your domain.

Step 2: Your Hosting Account

The second step is to get your own hosting account. Again, there are about a million hosting companies out there as well. I normally recommend www.BlackWireHosting.

com because they are cheap and reliable.

After you setup your hosting account, they are going to give you two things.

1. Your "nameservers."
2. Your FTP information

Your Name Servers

These name servers are like an address for where the computer is that is hosting your website.

The nameservers to my websites are:

ns1.dotcomsecretsdomains.com
ns2.dotcomsecretsdomains.com
ns3.dotcomsecretsdomains.com
ns4.dotcomsecretsdomains.com

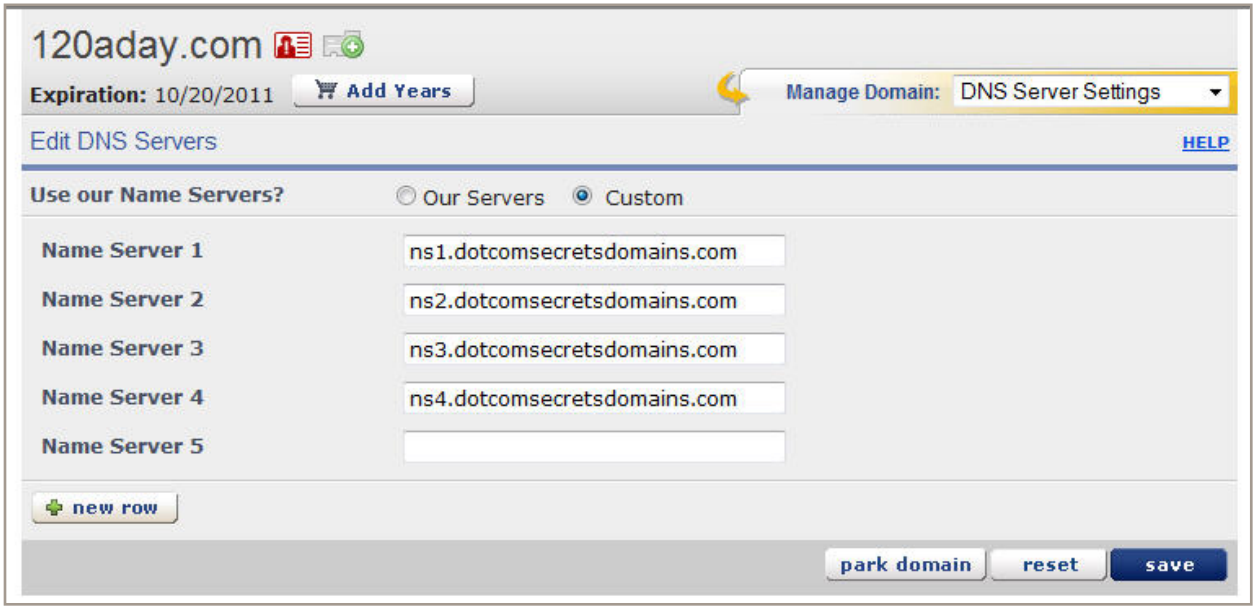

After you get the information about your nameservers from your host, you need to go back to the site that you bought your domain name from (either GoDaddy.com or EnomCentral.com).

You will then need to login your domain name, and set your DNS to point to your nameservers.

I know – it sounds super techy, but all you are basically doing is when someone types in your domain name, the registrar is going to look up the nameserver and see where your website is hosted, and then send that visitor to your website.

So when you login to your registrar, just look for somewhere that you can update your DNS, and then enter the nameservers that your hosting company gave you.

This is what it looks like in EnomCentral.com:

After you have pointed the DNS to your nameservers, you are ready to start building your website!

Your FTP information

This is the logins and passwords that your webmasters or programmers will need to be able to login and edit or update your website.

Also – you can add your ftp information to the sales letter software that came in this package, and you can upload your salesletter directly to your website!

Step #3 – Setting up Your Product in ClickBank

Clickbank is the company that most underachievers use to process their payments, manage their affiliate program and more!

It would be almost impossible to walk you through all of the steps to get your website listed in ClickBank in this book, so I am providing you with some video tutorials that will walk you through every step in the process.

You can download and watch these videos here:

CHAPTER 3B

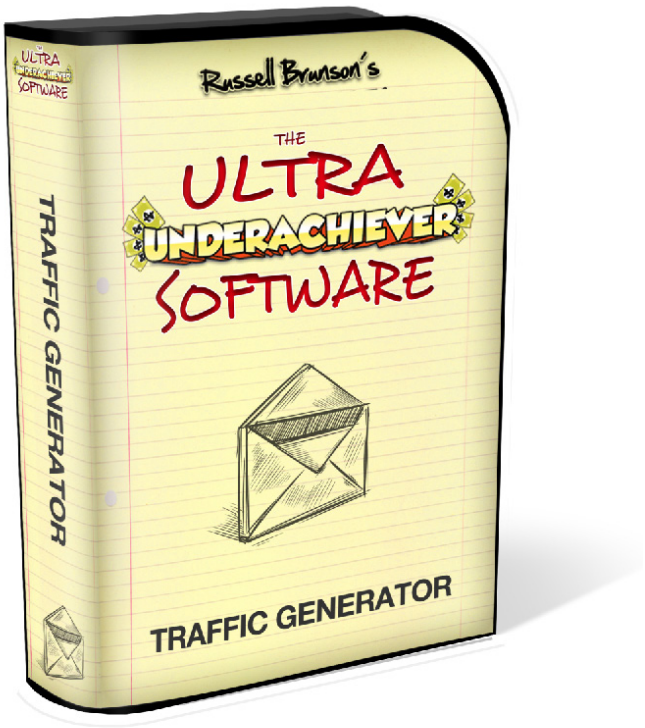

GIVE IT TO THEM
(DRIVING THE TRAFFIC)

How To Generate Targeted (Underachiever Style) Traffic To Your Website

Now that you have all of the pieces of your website and your Underachiever product finished, it's time to get to the fun part!

This is where we drive targeted traffic and visitors to our website! And as you already know, we created a powerful tool for you to use. Just open up this section of the software, and then I'll explain to you how it all works:

How To Drive Targeted Traffic To Your Underachiever Website

There are literally hundreds of different ways to drive traffic to your website. Each of them have different pros and cons. Some are free, but they take a lot of time, others don't take any time, but cost a lot of money.

In the past we taught people eight to 10 different ways they could drive traffic, and what I found was interesting is that very few people ever implemented even just one thing. So I started to really think about what was the EASIEST way that I currently use to get traffic. It has to be simple, fast and effective. But MOST importantly I wanted to make something that ANY Underachiever could do.

The original Underachievers relied on Google's PPC (pay per click) program to drive traffic. But then Google changed it's rules, and most "Undies" sites got booted out of Google's PPC program.

So, what we started to do initially was really focus on free search engine traffic doing real old school SEO.

At first we started to have success again, but it was a lot of work to get ranked high for many of the keywords we wanted to go after.

Then one day I had a breakthrough.

I actually found one of my competitors in the free search engine listings. He was always on top of me for the keywords I wanted, so after I kept loosing to him in the SEO battle, I decided to call him and become friends.

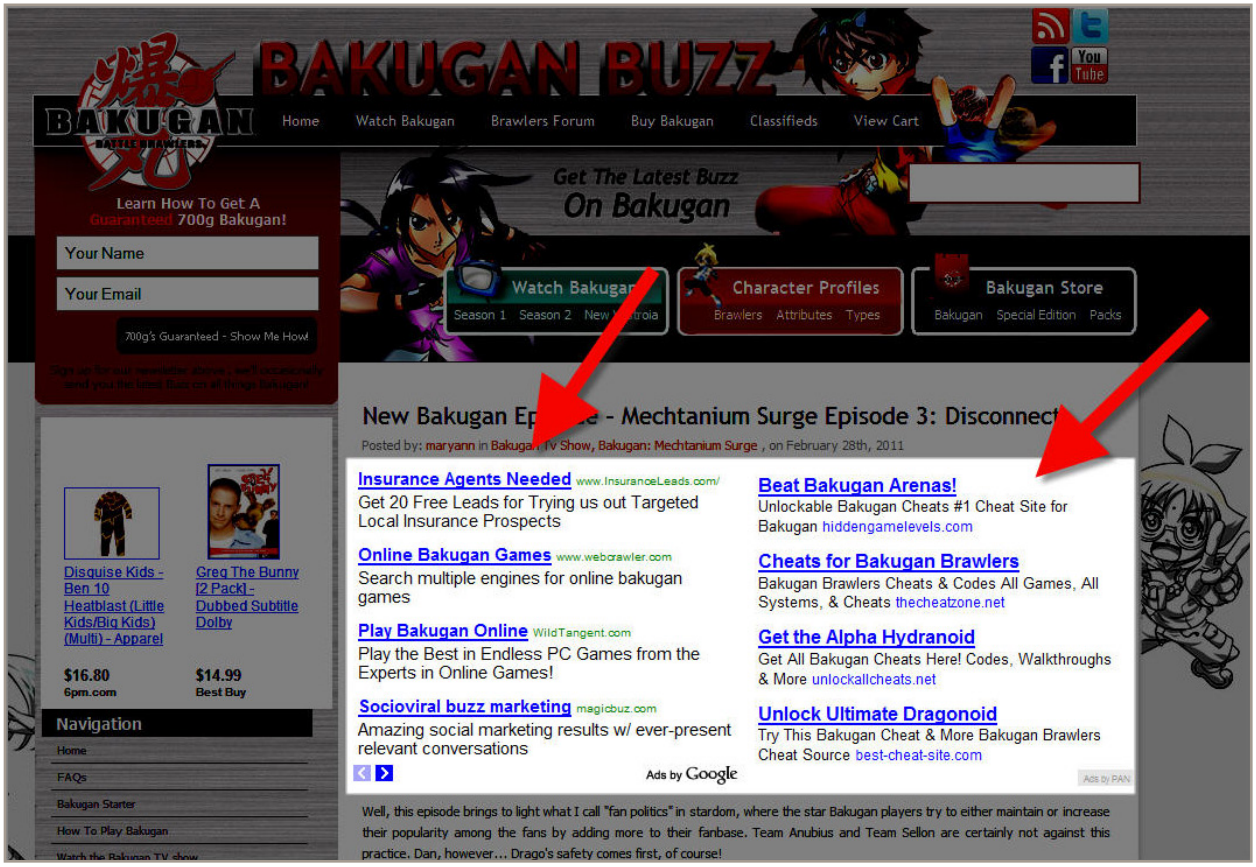

After talking to him for five minutes, I knew I was doomed and had no chance at ever beating him out of his spot.

And then he laughed and said, "Russell, why don't you guys buy my traffic..."

What...? Buy his traffic?

I was completely confused, so I asked him what he meant.

He then showed me at the top of his site a HUGE block with Google Adsense on it. He said that that ad block received over 1,000 clicks PER DAY, and that the majority of the site visitors clicked on it.

He then said that Google gives him a check each month when anyone clicks on those ads, but that he was making the people who were advertising on his site a lot of money too! That one comment started a chain reaction that has since driven millions of visitors to my niche websites.

Instead of working to get my sites ranked high in Google, I think like an Underachiever and look for others who are already ranked high, and then just piggy back on their success like a parasite.

So, I want to show you the process, and then show you how the software we have given you helps to automate most of the process!

- First – I would pull a list of all of the keywords I want to go after.
- Second – I would type those keywords into Google, MSN, and Yahoo, and then take the first 30 results of each keyword.
- Third – We would then go and manually visit all 30 of those pages for all three search engines for the full keyword list.

You see, this got to be a LOT of work REALLY fast...

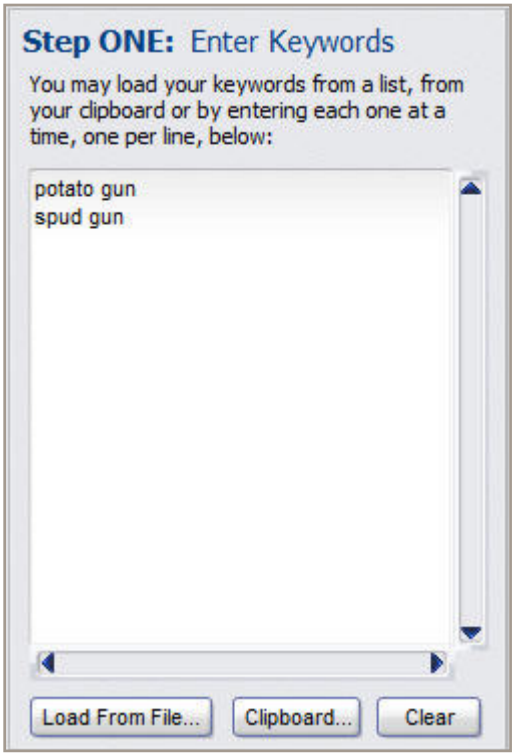

But the results paid off BIG TIME.

So, that's why we created the software that you now have in your hands to automate the whole process!

This is how it works.

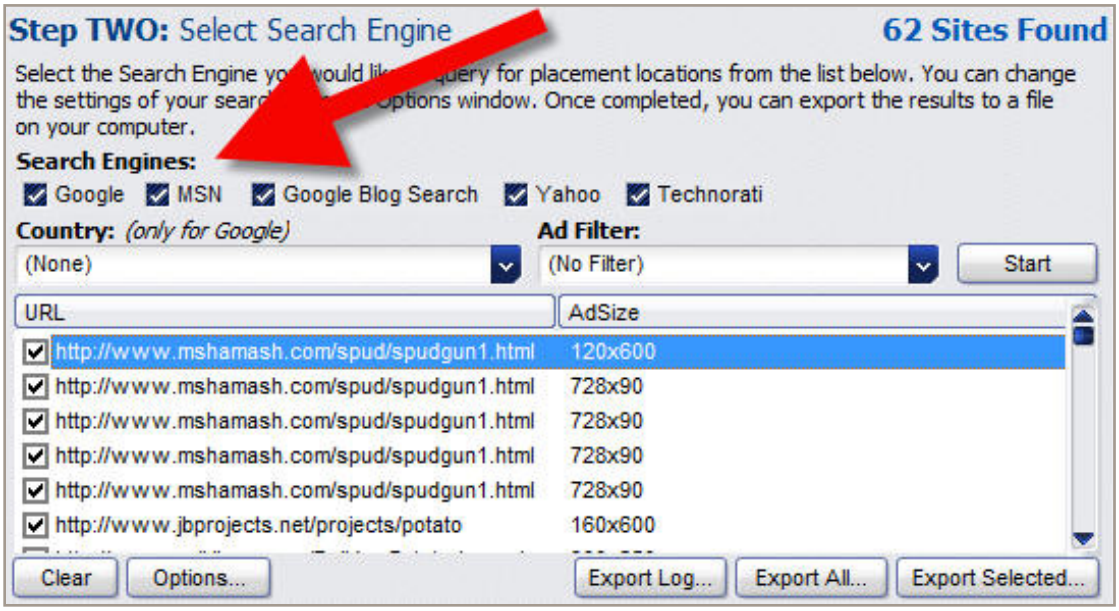

Step #1

Type in the keyword (or upload a keyword list) for the words you would like to get traffic from:

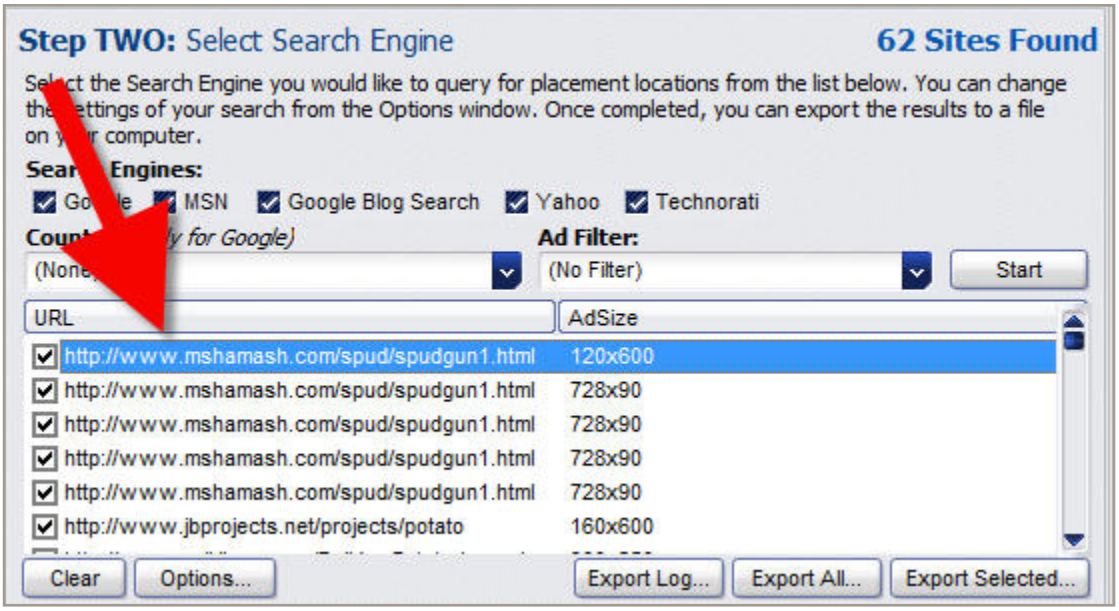

Step #2

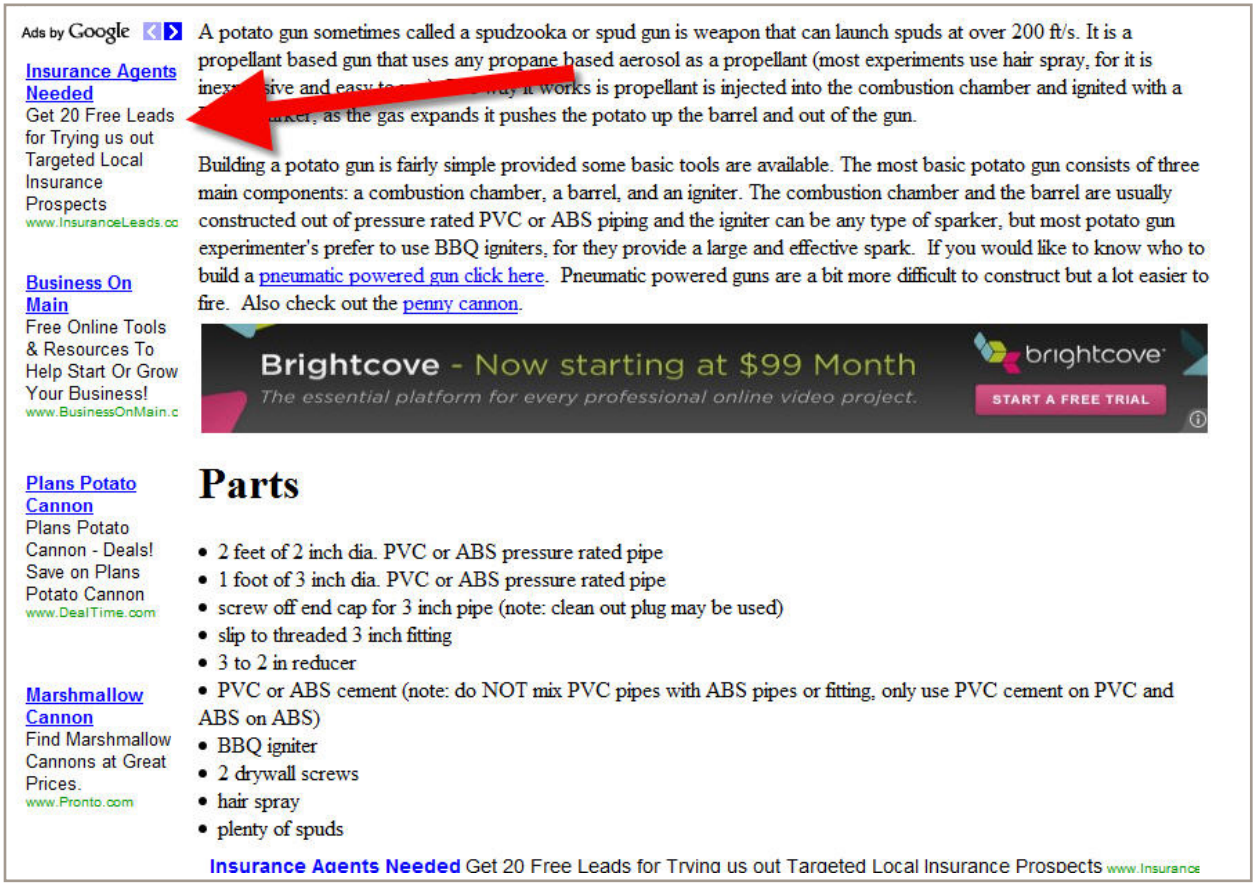

Select which search engines you would like to target:

Step #3

It will give you a list of all sites for those keywords that have an adsense block on them!

Now you have a targeted list of all of the red hot websites that are ALREADY ranked for the keywords you want, and you know which ones sell advertising space! All you have to do is import keywords into the software, and get hundreds if not thousands of high quality websites to advertise on at a fraction of the costs of traditional PPC advertising!

Then load up those sites back into your Google adwords account and target your ads directly on those websites!

It gives you the ability to cash in on your competitors marketing efforts by placing your ads directly on their websites and blogs (and they can hardly control it).

Instead of bidding on expensive keywords, you are able to go directly to the sites and are already highly positioned for the keywords you want.

Also – the traffic that you will get from these ads is pre-qualified. They have already selected websites that are in your niche, and now you just funnel them to you! This software, and the concept behind how it works is so simple, yet powerful enough to drive millions of targeted visitors to any website you want!

We will be adding special training videos inside the member's area teaching this concept in more details, so you can SEE the actual campaigns we run for our Underachiever websites!

CONCLUSION

Conclusion

You have now been through the Underachiever System. But I have to warn you, this is not the end, it's the beginning. Most people follow the system once, get their first underachiever site up and running, and then get addicted. They then do it again and again.

I HIGHLY recommend you do that, because each site you create is literally like giving yourself a raise! It's now your turn to create your own Underachiever success story – and I can't wait to hear it!

Thanks so much for being part of our training system!